Admits Bryan's Defeat-Final Whacl at the "Money Powers." (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.-Chairman Jone ssued the following statement tonight: "The result of the Presidential election is apparently no longer in doubt. It has been one of the closest contests that the people have been called on to determine in recent years. We have claimed the election on our advices from States that were admittedly in doubt, in which we knew there had been many frauds, and from which there were evidences of tampering with ent that Bryan, after making the most brilliant campaign in the history of our country, and having carried most of the States claimed to be doubtful, has not carried enough to assure his success in the electoral college. "Bryan electors have been chosen from all of the States south of the Potomac and the Ohio, except West Virginia, and all those west of the Missouri except California and Oregon. He has 190 electoral votes, and this number may be increased by final returns from States yet in question. He has not obtained enough votes to carry the electoral college.

"Thus this remarkable campaign closes with the election of William Mc-Kinley. The result was brought about by every kind of coercion and intimidation on the part of the money power including threats of lockouts and dismissals and impending starvation; by the employment of by far the larges campaign fund ever used in this country, and by the subornation of a large portion of the American press.

"The President-elect and his party are under the pledge to the American people to continue the gold standard and by its operation to restore prosperthis country. As Chief Executive Mr. McKinley will have the cordial support of the millions of patriotic Americans who have cast their votes for the majesty of the office and abide by the result, with none of the mutterings that would have come from the mon eyed power had it been unsuccessful.

"They are confident the gold standard but will gladly welcome it if it come They will continue the great struggle for the uplifting of humanity and the maintenance of the dignity of our country in the establishment of the merican monetary system. And the Democratic party, aided by its present illies, will still uplift the bimetalli standard and bear it on to victory. "JAMES K. JONES

"Chairman Democratic National Con POPULIST CHAIRMAN ADMITS IT.

LINCOLN (Neb.,) Nov. 5 .- Mr. Bryan | burn of the National Populist Committee late this afternoon concedes the election of McKinley. "The returns today point to McKinley's election," said Washburn. "With States west of the Missouri and south of the Ohio we had 209 electoral votes, not including Maryland or Delaware. We must hold all of them and carry either Indiana or Michigan in order to win. If we lose California or West Virginia, or any other State it renders it necessary to both Indiana and Michigan which does not seem probable."

CHANGED HIS MIND.

YORK, Nov. 6.-12:40 a.m. A Neb., says Bryan announces that he will prepare a statement to be issued to the bimetallists of the country and will make it public before noon today. He did not give out one last evening as he previously expected.

He will dwell in his message upo the effects of a single gold standard, and will urge the advocates of bimetallism to maintain their organizations and use the utmost endeavors in behalf of this same cause until it wins at the polls.

Bryan declined to outline his fuure plans, or to give his opinion as to the causes which led to his defeat. is quite certain, however, that he will be tempted by none of the flattering offers which are coming to him to leave Lincoln. He will remain about his home for the next few weeks, re-cuperating, for while he is in no way exhausted by the duties of the campaign, he confesses to a feeling of languor as a result of the arduous labor of the past four months.

It is also believed that Bryan con siders that the result of the election has in it much to encourage the advo cates of independent action by this country on the question of free coinage of silver. Mrs. Bryan received the news with quite as much composur as did her husband. She had never felt the same confidence of succes William Jennings Bryan. Paper

The receipt of the telegram created no scene whatever, and one unac-quainted with the facts would never have suspected from the surface indi cations the importance of the occasion or that the chief actor in the demand had more than a passing interest in it. He handed the telegram to Mrs. Bryan who was standing near him, and, without a word, except to explain the pur port of the message, sat down at his desk and penned the telegram to Maj. McKinley.

His message was first submitted to Mrs. Bryan and then, after amended in some slight particular so as to conform with suggestions made by her, was given to the press. While writing the message, and after it was ompleted, Bryan chatted pleasantly with the newspaper correspondents who surrounded him, indicating by his manner that he felt relieved to have the matter definitely determined, even though the result was against him. He also showed very plainly that Senator Jones's message was no surprise to him, as it indeed was not, for, as those who have been in his confidence knew, he had considered the battle as practically lost ever since the United Press dispatch from Lincoln, first night after the election. He has, however, felt that it would be both any intimation to this effect until the National Committee had spoken.

Bryan had announced that he would omorrow issue an address, but he declined to make any statement tonight or to submit to an interview furthe than to say that the fight for silver nad just begun. It is known to be his ourpose to devote much of his time in the future to educating the people to the acceptance of his views on the financial question, and it is his intention to sound the keynote in the paper which he will issue tomorrow.

Splendid Message to National Chairman Mark Hanna. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

CANTON (O.,) Nov. 5.-Presidentowing dispatch to Mark Hanna at

To Hon. M. A. Hanna, Waldorf Hotel, New York—Your telegraphic message announcing the result of the election has been received. I beg you great services in the cause of sound oney and protection throughout the campaign, now closed and gloriously won. They were most general and effective, and will receive the warm approbation of your countrymen ev-erywhere. I will be pleased to have you convey to your associates of the tion of their efficient services.

The people in their majesty detestation of repudiation and dishonor, in whatever specious guise they may be presented. They have with the same mighty power affirmed their devotion to law and order, and their undeviating respect for justice and the courts. They have proclaimed the unfaltering determination to support and uphold the constituted authorities of the country, and have thereby given new vigor and strength to our free institutions. They have, indeed, again consecrated themselves to country and baptized the cherished ordinances of free government with a new and holy patriotism.

The victory is not to party or section, but of and for the whole Ameri-can people. Not the least of the triumphs of the election is the obliteration of sectional lines in the Republic. We have demonstrated to the world that we are a reunited people in purpos as in name. We have manifested in the great cause the spirit of fraternity and brotherhood that should always characterize our common and equal citizenship, and have proven conclusively that in a country of equal privileges and equal opportunity, the insididoctrine of hate, or of class or sectional distinctions cannot prevail. Americans straightway devote ourselves to the upbuilding of America; to the peace, honor and glory of our common country. Party distinctions should no longer divide or rack the public mind, nor the zeal or temper of either side deter any citizen from patriotic devotion to the good of all.

test in the ordinary meaning of the term, it was an insurrection against the underlying principles of civilization, and I believe it is without a parallel in the history of the world.

"I have no opinion to express as to the future of the Democratic party. It has no future which it can determine for itself. This election in my opinion, was not an explanation of the people as to what should be done during the next four years, but as to what should not be done. I do not regard it as a verdict in favor of any specific policy. It was a verdict against debasement of the currency against the destruction of the Supreme Court, as an independent tribunal, and against the nullification or abridgement of the President's ent tribunal, and against the nullifica-tion or abridgement of the President's power to enforce law. In fine, it was a verdict that the fundamental conditions of civilized society should not be dis-turbed in this country.

HELENA (Mont.) Nov. 5 .- Discuss ing the result of the election, Senator Carter said last night: "The election of McKinley bids the American people to renew hope in the future. That the newly-elected President will justify the expectations of the people, no one fa-miliar with his past record and great miliar with his past record and great ability can question. It must be understood, however, that his path is liable to be beset with difficulties. It is obvious that the Senate will be very close on the subject of tariff legislation. The very large vote cast for Bryan will, I am sure, admonish those in the minority, of the necessity for prompt and vigorous efforts in the direction of securing results on the colmage question, in accordance with the platform."

I predict that Mr. Bryan, who voted for Weaver in 1892, will soon abandon the Democratic name. His candidacy, which was an example of unreasoning socialism, was exploded by the election of McKinley at the late election. The issues of the canvass were dictated to the Chicago convention by that combination of politicians who are without principle and only sought success. They had, before the Chicago convention met, matured plans for the nomination of the same candidate by the Populists at St. Louis. FAULKNER GIVES CONSENT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Senato Faulkner tonight said: "Chairman Jones has informed me that he will this evening concede the election of Maj. McKinley. The confidence which Senator Jones has inspired and the manner in which he has con ducted the campaign will warrant m in saying that none will question the propriety of his acting promptly in so grave a matter, when once he has be me thoroughly satisfied from the returns in his possession that there re-mains no further hope for the success of that magnificent leader whose plum has been seen in the front of the line of battle in thirty States, and whose eloquent voice in behalf of the people's cause has inspired millions of his fellow-citizens to strain every effort within the lines of legitimate contro-versy to secure a victory which would relieve them from the merciless exactions of a continuing contracting cur

UNITED STATES SENATORS. Five States in Doubt as to Actual

Elections. WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—As regards the election of United States Senators the five doubtful States yesterday were Delaware, Kansas, Ken tucky, North Carolina and South Da kota. It is now reasonably certain that Delaware will have a Republican Legislature, the only claim to the con Legislature, the only claim to the con-trary being of irregularities in Sussex county. Kansas will elect a fusion or Independent Senator to succeed Pef-fer. Kentucky, on the face of the re-turns, will elect a Republican to suc-ceed Blackburn.

"The result in Nebraska is very gratifying. We have had great obstacles to overcome, yet we have secured a majority of 10,000 for our electoral ticket and have elected the entire State ticket, and also at least four and possibly five member of Congress out of six, and elected a good working majority in both branches of the Legislature. The Democrats, Populists and Sliver-Populists have worked together in perfect harmony, and they share the victory together.

"I am proud of Nebraska, and am grateful to friends in this State for their loyalty. No cause ever had more devoted supporters than the giver cause. Having control of the legislative machinery in this State, we shall be able to so reform our ballot law as to prevent frauds which have been perpetrated under it, and we shall also be able to secure legislation which will protect from coercion and intimidation. The people of Nebraska have cause for rejoicing. The good effect of our victory in this State will be felt for years to come."

STATE WILL GO FOR MCKINLEY. Returns are Cutting Down the Ma jority.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) Nov. 5., 7:30 p m.—Corrected returns just received: Bryan receives 494 more votes in Callo-way county and in Hardin county 63 more are for Bryan. However, the Republicans still claim the State will go for McKinley by 478. BY CONGRESS DISTRICTS.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) Nov. 5.-With LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) Nov. 5.—With two whole counties (Leslie and Knott) and eighteen precincts missing, Bryan has a plurality of 215 votes in the State, but many feturns are unofficial and it seems highly probable the State board will have to decide the result in two missing counties. Leslie is Eepublican and gave Bradley 76 majority. Knott county is Democratic, and gave Hardin (Dem.) over Bradley-last year 399 majority. The three missing precincts in Bellaire, three in Clay and one in Letcher are Republican; one in Grant, one in Fendieton and three in Henderson are Democratic. The following by Congress districts are the most reliable majorities yet at hand:

First District. Bryan, 12,558; Second District, Bryan, 182; Fourth District, Bryan, 2737; Fifth District, McKinley, 13,275; Sixth District, Bryan, 3631; Seventh District, Bryan, 343; Eighth District, McKinley, 145; Eleventh District, McKinley, 14,526; Eleventh District, McKinley, 11,926; totals, Bryan, 27,266; McKinley, 17,048. Bryan's plurality, 218.

Chalrman Roberts still claims the State for McKinley by 1000. Chairman Sommers claims it for Bryan, but gives no figures. He claims to have returns from all missing precincts. The Congressional delegation is as follows: First District, C. K. Wheeler, silver Democrat; Second, J. D. Clardy, silver Democrat; Third, J. F. Rhea, silver Democrat; Fourth, David H. MORE IN DOUBT THAN EVER. MORE IN DOUBT THAN EVER.
LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) Nov. 5.—At midnight the result in Kentucky on Presidential electors is more in doubt than ever. The revision of figures in some districts has brought a majority for either side down to a very small margin. Bryan has gained 494 votes in Calloway county and 633 in Hardin county by the discovering of errors in the count. McKinley has gained 500 in the Tenth District from the same cause.

A PARTIAL REPUBLICAN VICTORY Small Plurality Given for Bryan

Electors.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) CHEYENNE (Wyo.,) Nov. 5.-Returns to the Democratic Committee show a plurality for Bryan of 504, and for Osborne for Congress of 650 votes. The districts to be heard from are Big Horn county, Star Valley and Jackson Hole, Uintah county and several pre-cincts in Johnson county. It is esticincts in Johnson county. It is mated the Democratic majority in these mated the Democratic majority in these districts is 3000. The Democratic Committee claims the State by 8000.

The Republican State Committee has full returns from eleven counties, and with the estimated returns from the remaining two claim the absolute election of one elector and the probable election of two by pluralities of 250, also the election of Congressman Associate Judge by 400. The committee estimates the State Legislature will be 42 Republican and 14 Democratic on joint ballot.

ONLY 700.

ONLY 700. ONLY 700.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.,) Nov. 5.—To the Associated Press, Chicago: Our returns as far as in show Bryan electors 300 ahead: four precincts in Johnson county to hear from will increase this over 100. Big Horn county, without railroad or telegraphic communication, cannot be heard from for several days. Both claim Big Horn. Our ante-election advices would give Bryan 200 majority. Only two counties are yet complete. We estimate Bryan's plurality at 700 in the State. (Signed)

CHAIRMAN WARREN'S VIEWS. CHEYENNE (Wyo.,) Nov. 5. — One county remote from rallroad and telegraph has not been heard from. Have certainly elected one McKinley elector. Indications are that we have elected all three, as well as Congressmen and Su-preme Judge. Pluralities either way will be within the limit of two hundred votes except, perhaps, as to one elector.
The Legislature will be Republican.
(Signed) "F. E. WARREN.
"Chairman Wyoming Republican State Committee."

THE DIVISION. THE DIVISION.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.,) Nov. 5.—Complete returns from all but fifty-seven precincts in Wyoming give Bryan 26 plurality and Osborne (Dem.) for Congress 235. The indications are that the Republicans got one elector, through the arrangement of names on the ballot, and the Supreme Judge and the Democrats get two electors and a Congressman.

Colorado give Bryan, 141,000; McKinley, 25,000; scattering, 2000. Adams, Democrat-silver Republican candidate for Governor, received 83,000; Bailey, Populist-silver, 67,000; Allen, gold-standard Republican, 14,000; Walte, middle-of-the-road Ponulist. 3000.
Congressman Shafroth, silver Republican in the First District, and Bell, Populist in the Second, are re-elected by almost the entire vote of the respective districts. It is impossible to form any definite idea of the complexion of the Legislature, as all kinds of fusion and combinations were made, and nearly every member made, and nearly every mem elected was the candidate of two more parties. Senator Teller will reëlected without opposition. AS EXPECTED.

DENVER, Nov. 5.—Bryan's majority in the State will be 120,000 to 130,000. Adams (Dem.) is elected Governor by 12,000 to 15,000. Legislature strongly silver, not a single straight Republican being chosen.

HOLCOMB LEADS BRYAN.

LINCOLN, Nov. 5.—Complete returns from 44 out of the 92 counties of the State give Bryan 7036 majority and Holcomb (fusion) for Governor, 10,645. It is estimated from these figures that Bryan's majority in the State will be about 13,000, and Holcomb's about 18,000.

about 13,000, and Holcomb's about 18,000.

The fact that Holcomb runs ahead of Brlyan is attributed to the confusion incident to the court decision against the regularity of the Chicago ticke. The Populists and Democrats concede the election of Strode (Rep.) to Congress from the First District, and of Mercer (Rep.) in the Second. Fussion candidates will carry all the other Congress districts by large majorities.

Republican Chairman Post claims that the Bryan majority in the State will not exceed 5000.

The State and Congress tickets run about even with the Presidential, and indicate the election of all Republican State officers by majorities of from 200 to 400. It is so, close in several counties that the official count will be necessary. The Legislature is certainly Populist by ten majority, and may be increased to twelve.

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.,) Nov. 5 .-Specials to the Journal from North Da kota points indicate the next Legisla-ture will be Republican on joint ballot by a small majority, insuring the elec tion of a Republican successor to Hansough. He probably has the strong est following of any candidate. There seems no reason to change the previous estimate of 5000 majority for McKinley in the State. Cass county, including Fargo, gives a Republican majority of 1113, the largest in its history.

REPUBLICANS WILL CONTEST.

They Claim Glaring Irregularities in Three Congress Districts.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—An Even-ing Star special from Richmond, Ya., says: "Plans have been mapped out by the Republicans to make a contest in the Second, Third, and Fifth dis-in the Second, Third, and Fifth districts. They claim that there were irregularities in the Second District sufficient to elect R. C. Wise, Gross irregularities and the dilatory tactics by which no less than 2000 negroes were disfranchised in Richmond alone, they assert, will almost certainly seat Judge Lewis, the Republican candidate in the Third District.

"Henry county is also claimed to have been the seat of glaring irregularities. An effort will be made to unseat Capt. Lamb, silver Democrat, declared elected in the First Richmond district. In the Fifth District where Claude A. Swanson was reëlected over J. R. Brown, Republican, by a majority of about 400, the Republicans say they have strong grounds for contest and that Swanson will be unseated."

Two Hundred Republican Known to Be Elected. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. - A tabl prepared by the Associated Press from the telegraphic returns up to midnight shows the election so far of 201 Repub licans to the next House, 124 Democrats and 19 Populists, Fusionists and Independents, a number which should, perhaps, be slightly increased, as a few of those classified as Democrats have inde pendent leanings. Some districts are in doubt, and no attempt has been made to include Washington and South Dakota, and three districts in Texas, in the list, owing to the meager and conflicting returns. Washington has probably gone Democratic or Independent on Congressmen. The list by States is as follows:

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The

San Francisco Chronicle will say: "California's vote, with 125 outlyin precincts unreported, gives to McKinley and Hobart 6196 plurality over the Democratic ticket.

"Returns newly received show the greatest changes of results in the Southern Congress districts. McLach lan concedes his district to Barlow by 300, yet on the face of the returns with only two precincts to hear from he has a majority of 32. Massing the fusion vote on the bas's of 1892 or President, and giving this to Barlov and counting Harrison's vote for Mc Lachlan, the Republican candidale would still have a majority of 14.

"In the Seventh District, while Bow ers continues hopeful, his outlook is gloomy. The unreported precincts are 25. of which 22 are in countles when Castle is running strong. On the face of the reports now in, the majorit of Castle over the San Diego Congressman is 227, but there may be sufficient change in the lower San Joaquin Valley districts to elect the protection Congressman.

"The Legislature seems safely Republican on joint ballot. The figures now given stand: Republicans, 72; Democrat-Populists, 48; a joint majority of 24 equally divided as to the houses. Republicans elected nine of the Senators and the Democrats secured eleven. The Assemblymen stand: Republicans, 46; Fusionists, 34.

ANOTHER ESTIMATE. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 .- All the recincts in California have been eard from with the exception of 125, and McKinley's plurality in the State up to date is 6196, a loss of 787 votes during the day. The missing precincts are in remote sections, and will no beheard from for several days. They cannot materially change the result, as their total vote in 1892 was only 4246 ver 356, a plurality for Cleveland over Harrison of 306. There may be a slight gain for the Democrats this year, but it is safe to say that from the returns furnished by the Western Union telegraph that McKinley carries the State by at least 6000 votes. in doubt. So far it is known that the Republicans have elected three Congressmen and the Democrats two, Barham in the First, Hilborn in the Third and Loud in the Fifth are safe for the Republicans, while in the Sec-ond and Fourth Districts the Democrats have elected De Vries and Ma-In the Sixth and Seventh Districts the vote is very close and the official count may have to decide the victors. With only two precincts to hear from in the Sixth District, Mc-Lachlan (Rep.) leads Barlow (Fusionist,) by thirty-two votes. One of the missing precincts is in San Benito ounty and the other in Santa Barbara. In the Seventh District all the pre-cincts except twenty-six have been heard from. In 459 out of 485 preincts Castle (fusionist) leads Bowers (Rep.) by 227 votes. Of the missing precincts four are in Fresno county, three in Kern, fifteen in Madera, one in Merced and three in Riverside. It is claimed that the majority of these precincts are Democratic and if that i so, Castle's election seems assured.

The Legislature will no doubt be Re publican in both house IT IS REPUBLICAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 .- Up to midnight complete returns have been received from fifty-two Assembly Districts and fourteen Senatorial districts. From these districts the Republicans elect thirty-four Assemblymen an Senators. The Democrat seven elect eight Asesmblymen and sever Senators, In the uncompleted districts some of which are running very clos blymen in the lead, the Democrate thirteen and the Populists one. For the Senate the Republicans have four can didates leading and the Democrats fiv

Taking the candidates in the lead a elected, the Republicans will have total of 46 Assemblymen, and with 1 Republican hold-over Senators wi have 27 in the Senate, or 65 on tol ballot. The Democrats will have 3 Assemblymen, which, with 1 Pop ulist, will give them 32 votes. In the Senate, counting 3 hold-overs, they will have 15, which will give them 47 or joint ballot. This leaves a majority or 28 for the Republicans on a joint bal-lot.

DID THE WORK WELL. Chairman McLaughlin and Califor

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 -- Chair man McLaughlin of the State Republican Committee today received the following dispatch from M. A. Hanna: "You have done your work well, and

I congratulate California." Chairman McLaughlin has requested every town in the State to hold ratiffcation meetings next Saturday night. ALFORD'S RIDICULOUS CLAIM.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 .- Chairman McLaughlin of the Republican State Committee has semi-official returns from every county in this State, and claims a majority for McKinley of Chairman Alford of the Democratic State Committee says he believes that in Los Angeles the vote cast for Populist electors under that party heading were not included in Bryan's total vote. The accuracy of this statement cannot be ascertained until the official count. Alford claims the State for Bryan by

M'KINLEY PRESSES THE BUTTON AND PROSPERITY BEGINS.

An Electric Spark Starts the Fire in the Tonawanda Iron and Steel Company's Big Furnaces.

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER WORK

THE CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE OPENS WITHOUT "WIND."

The Wool Men of California Forwar Their Congratulations—Treasury Officials Say There is a Bet-ter Financial Tone.

(BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.) BUFFALO, Nov. 5 .- Maj. McKinley touched the telegraph key at his home n Canton at 6:30 o'clock this afternoon and the electric spark exploded gun owder at the furnaces of the Tona wanda Iron and Steel Company which started fires which will give employ ment to 350 men.

Niagara, was completed a short time pefore the Chicago convention, and it was the intention of the owners, who had invested $150,000, to start it at once. A furnace which employs 300 men has been kept in operation through the campaign, but Rogers, Brown and Company decided not to operate the new one unless McKinley

Mai. McKinley pressed the bufton on time. It completed an electric cir cuit at the furnace. Incandescent lamp-films ignited the powder, which set fire to waste which lighted the wood. Tonawanda celebrated the event with a big procession of its citizens.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. CANTON O.,) Nov. 5.-Electric cor nection was made between McKinley's home and a large factory at Tona-wanda. At 2:30 o'clock McKinley touched the button and the factory wheels started. Two thousand spec-tators enthusiastically applauded.

INFLATION KNOCKED OUT.

Chicago Stock Exchange Resume on a Cash Basis (BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE)

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(Special Dispatch.) To the election of William Mc-Kinley is due the opening of the Chicago Stock Exchange this morning at 10 o'clock, after having been closed since August 3, the day before the announce. ment of the collapse of the speculative deal in Diamond Match and New York Biscuit stock. There was a big difference between the conditions of opening and the closing last August. Then the blackboard was covered with inflated prices. Today sales were nearly all on a cash basis, and there was no wind in the proceedings. In a way, it was a model opening and it was ar auspicious one, for prices generally ad-

There was, to be sure, a big tumble in quotations for Diamond Match and New York Biscuit stocks, as compared with the figures of August 3. Diamond Match closed August 3 at 222; it closed yesterday at 130, or a loss of $92 a share. New York Biscuit stock closed August 3 at 92. It closed yesterday

Bankers, brokers and the public which take an interest in the Stock Exchange were pleased at the way business moved off. There was no excitement and there were no failures, and, ir addition, securities were strong. The result of the day's trading demonstrated the wisdom of closing the ex change, and the time selected for the opening. Within three months all trades between brokers were settled up. The misfortunes of the week were pretty well borne. Strong burdens were distributed over the community of brokers and when they met it was with out fear that they would be rendered bankrupt within a few hours. EVEN DEMOCRATS ARE ENCOUR-AGED.

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Nov. 5 -(Spe cial Dispatch.) The hardware manufac tory of the Sargents in this city has started up on full time and with a full force. The factory, which employs 2500 hands, is the largest in the State It was established by Joseph B. Sargent, candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket at Tuesday's election, and he has continued its leading spirit. The action of the Sargents in starting up their factory is attrib uted to confidence in returning pros perity.

ANOTHER RESULT.

The Milwaukee Harvester Work Ready to Resume Operations.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.,) Nov. 5.-The settlement of the Presidential election is having a cheerful effect in industrial circles in this city. The Milwaukee Harvester Works was the first institu-tion to start the ball on the road to prosperity by employing 300 additiona men. Two hundred more will be added men. Two hundred more will be added within a month. Railway officials report a great rush for mileage books by the traveling agents.

After McKinley touched the Tonawanda button, the same wire brought wanda button, the same wire brought back the following message:

"To Hon. William McKiniey—The new Niagara furnace has been started by yourself, and by the principles you represent, upon what we hope is a career of usefulness to the community. As this act is typical of the widespread starting of industry, the Tonawanda Iron and Steel Company and its employes and assembled guests, unite in congratulating you on your election, and in expressing the hope and belief that your administration will bring peace and prosperity to the whole nation.

(Signed) WILLIAM A. RODGERS, President." CONGRATULATIONS FROM WOOL MEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Jacob Rosenberg, president of the Wool Men's Association, today sent the following message to Maj. McKinley:

GOLD OFFERINGS.

Treasury Officials Regard the Financial Situation as Improved.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Informa-tion received at the Treasury Department shows that large amounts of gold are being offered at the several sub-treasuries in exchange for currency, stipulation being made as to legaltenders. A million dollars in gold was offered at Boston. The sub-treasurer telegraphed the Secretary for in-structions, stating the current work-ing force was somewhat behind, ow-ing to the flurry, and the payment of the amount of currency would leave the sub-treasury inconveniently short. Instructions were issued authorizing the acceptance of half the amount of-the acceptance of half the amount offered.

At New York the sub-treasury, it is understood, fas given notice they would receive gold today in exchange for currency. There are about $6,400,000 assay-office checks outstanding now, being deposited for currency. The demand for currency, especially small bills, in anticipation of exceptionally heavy revivals of business, is exceptionally heavy it is expected that several days will elapse before the officials will be in a position to meet all demands. The treasury officials regard the financian situation as greatly improved.

IN THE OHIO VALLEY.

Railroad Shops, Car Works and Mills to Open Up.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

CINCINNATI (O.,) Nov. 5 .- Special dispatches indicate a revival of business throughout the Ohio Valley, as well as here. The Big Four, Chesapeake and throughout the Ohio Valley, as well as here. The Big Four, Chesapeake and Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio rallroads all ordered their shops opened today, and enlarged forces at those already running. The Ensign Car Works at Huntington. W. Va., resumed. The car works at Mt. Vernon, Ill., got an order for 200 cers from the Louisville, and for 300 cars from the Louisville and Nashville road, and resumed work, The Niles Tool Works and other shops at Hamilton announced increased forces Furnaces at Ironton, Ashland other river towns announce that they will go in blast soon, but no dates are given. The Griffin Wood Works and the Powell Brass Works, both large concerns employing many men, an nounced today that they would resum at once. Others report that they had conditional orders on which they will enlarge their forces immediately.

The Pittsburgh Packet Compan closed a contract here today for build ing a new $65,000 river steamboat. The were made and the contract drawn two months ago. The closing of it was conditional upon the result of this election.

mouth, which have been on a short force, announce that it will employ a full force immediately.

MONEY EASING UP. KANSAS CITY (Mo.,) Nov. 5.-Local bankers in separate interviews today united in saying the result of the election has been to make the Kansas City money market easy and that business men who have been cramped, due to the banks contracting their loans, need have no more trouble in that respect. Local banks had universally withheld lection. Today they began paying the yellow metal out to all of their customs who desired it. An inventory taker weeks ago showed that most banks here had from $150,000 to $250,000 in gold and one or two had more.

ALAMEDA TAKES THE BANNER.

Her Voters Placed the State in the McKinley Column. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

OAKLAND, Nov. 5.—Alameda county will celebrate the triumph of Mc-Kinley on Saturday night with all the enthusiasm that her proud position warrants. The voters of the county gave the majority which places the State in the Republican column, and they are proud of their effort.

Alameda has become the banner Republican county of the State, and on Saturday night the victors will march behind the flag which typifles th honor. It has been wrested from Los Angeles county, and the wires have carried an urgent request to its custodians in the south, asking that it be forwarded here in time for the parade. The promise has been given that it will be here, and Grand Marshal Varney Gaskill has directed that it be carried at the extreme head of the procession.

WIENNA, Nov. 5.—(By Atlantic Cable). At 11 o'clock this morning in the chapel of Hofburg. Louis Philippe Robert, Duke of Orleans, pretender to the throne of France, was married to Archduchess Dorothea. The guests waited in the chapel the coming of the bridal couple, while Emperor Francis Joseph. the Queen of Portugal, the Duke of Orleans, the Archduchess Maria Dorothea, the members of the imperial house and the foreign princes waited in the mirror hall of the palace. At the signal from the minister of ceremonies the cortege traversed the State apartments which were lined by the life guards, to the chapel in the following order:

The imperial herald, the bridegroom, accompanied by the Duke of Chartres and the Archdukes Maria Dorothea, the bride, accompanied by the Countess of Paris, mother of the bridegroom; and the Duchess Clothilde, Emperor Francis Josef with the Queen of Portugal; the Duke of Connaught. representing Victoria; the Duchess of Aosta, the Duke of Aosta, representing the King of Italy, and the Archduchess Maria Josepha; the Archduchess and foreign princesses, and the archduchesses and foreign princesses, and the rolling of drums the wedding procession entered the imperial chaple, where they were received by Cardinal Cruscha, the archbishop of Vienna, who sprinkled the procession with holy water.

The bride and the bridegroom then knelt at the prie dieu, the wedding rings were blessed and handed to them on a golden salver. After placing the rings on each other's fingers, the bridal pair clasped hands and were again sprinkled with holy water. Mass was next celebrated and the "Te Deum" was chanted. At the conclusion of these ceremonies the wedding procession was reformed, this time led by the bride and bridegroom, and the imperial party returned to their apart-The imperial herald, the bridegroom, Reneke made his way to his home. A young woman who lived at the same house went out to report the matter to the police. She met Officer Davis, to whom she related the facts, but up to an early hour this morning no arrests had been made.

A hackdriver named Powers was the second victim. He was returning from East Los Angeles late last night. When on First street near Vignes the was hailed by a man on the sucewalk. Supposing that the man desired a ride he pulled up, dismounted from his seat and was opening the cab door when a gun was suddenly thrust into his face with a demand for his money. His pockets were rifled, but the robber secured only 75 cents.

Powers was completely taken by surprise and had no opportunity for resistance. The robber ran down Garey street.

As soon as his assailant had gone, the hack-driver reported the matter to the police, but no arrest has yet been made.

A third hold-up was also reported by a man who had been drinking fieavily. According to his story he was stopped by two men near the corner of Aliso and Alameda streets and robbed of $50. He said to the police that fie had besides $15 in his shoes which the robbers did not get. This occurred about 2 o'clock this morning. No arrests have been made and the police are somewhat inclined to question the man's story.

Early last evening a tall man whose name the police refuse to give, but who is a stranger in the city, went to police headquarters and reported that while walking through the oil districts he had met a stranger. The two struck up an acqualntance and at the other man's suggestion took a walk beyond the oil feetion. Suddenly a third man came

CALIFORNIA CONGRESSIONAL DIS-

The latest returns of results in the Congressional districts of the State are less favorable for the Republicans than Wednesday's dispatches indicated. It is fairly clear that the Republicans have carried the First, Third and Fifth districts, but the Sixth and Seventh districts are still in doubt. A bulletin from San Francisco at 11 o'clock last night stated that 317 precincts out of 319 in the six counties comprising the Sixth District gave McLachlan (Rep.) 23,556 votes. Barlow (Popocrat) 23,524. The bulletin failed to state what the two missing precincts were or what they gave at the last election, and although a telegram was sent by The Times at midnight for information re garding them, so as to base an estimate of the final result, no reply could be obtained. It is quite possible that it will require the official count to de termine whether McLachlan or Barlow has been elected.

In the Seventh District the vote is almost equally as close as that in the Sixth District. The latest figures re ceived show that 459 precincts cut of 485 in the district gave Bowers 18,906 Castle 19.133. What the remaining twenty-six districts may show is prob ematical. In the Second and Fourth districts there is no change. The Democrats have carried both.

A PRACTICAL EDUCATION.

President-elect McKinley has afforded the country a sublime lesson in modern politics by the speeches made to visiting delegations at his home during the canvass. Temperate always in his diction, he spoke simply for the whole country. The historian of late days who comes to review his speeches in a of 26, thereby assuring the election of spirit of calm and dispassionate criticism, will detect in them nothing of ingenious metaphor and very little rhetorical effort of any kind. He seemed from the very outset to realize that the Chairman Jones comes down, but not greatest danger that can beset any gracefully. In his address, which is candidate is that of saying things which published elsewhere in this issue of have to be unsaid. And with that fact The Times, he admits the election of in view he delivered a series of ad-Maj. McKinley, since further denial dresses to aggregations of men reprewould be useless. But when Mr. Jones senting every financial interest and claims that the contest has been "one every mechanical vocation on the continent, which, for simple verbiage and have been called on to determine in forcible logic, has never been equaled years," he makes a statement which in the forensic annals of America.

Of course he had a certain amoun of technical knowledge of manufactures that no other previous candidate in either party could have summoned to or a majority over Harrison of 110. If his aid. In this essential element of success at this particular juncture of affairs, he was just as far ahead of secured one vote in Wyoming, he will Robert J. Walker and Samuel J. Randall as they were ahead of all other men of their respective eras. He grew up in a manufacturing district that, for upward of half a century, had furnished a home market for the products the popular vote will be not far from of three neighboring States and enriched all the neighboring farmers. While other boys were shooting marbles and flying kites this quiet-faced boy was amusing himself with objectiancy" of Mr. Bryan's campaign, and lessons at the forge and the loom. And Mr. Jones is certainly entitled to his therefore it was that at that early age when the mind is wax to receive and adamant to retain impressions of great ion, and they expressed it quite freely and underlying questions of economics. he was acquiring all that was practical and useful. As literary productions his speeches resemble those of Mr. Webster more than those of any other public man of the past sixty years, in their simplicity of language and forcefulness of diction. Mr. Webster was rightfully termed "the imaginations of Jones, Bryan, Altgeld, great expounder of the Constitution," Tillman et al., and in the disordered a compliment that was yielded as gracefully by his opponents as by his own The changes from what the returns free election, it was the one which has no stretch of courtesy to allude to Mr American industries, for already has more than earned the title.

A crisis had arisen in America and the Republican party furnished the man for the hour in the person of Mc Kinley. He found capital grown wary and labor sullen. To reconcile these two temporarily discordant elements was a task that, at its very outset, would have discouraged a man of less tact. But the plucky man of Canton was equal to the emergency and three himself into the breach with a will that was as discreet as it was courageous make known the facts and cause the He pandered to no sectional prejudice arrayed no conflicting interests agains each other and preached no doctrine that had not been already verified by a nation's progress. In all things he was the law-abiding man and the man loving man, the unselfish publicist who at peace with his fellow-men, merely wanted to see all his countrymen i the same healthful condition. If his visitors were capitalists he reminded them that capital is, after all, but the is perfectly safe to say that not one of savings of labor. If they were delega tions from the trades, he pointed with unerring finger to the historical fact that the labor of the country had always been most prosperous when the rights of capital had been best respected. His technical knowledge of manufactures made his working auditors close and attentive listeners; and the longer they listened, the better they became satisfied that his utter ances were for their benefit rather than his own self-aggrandizement. The nation already knows the rest of the story American people, who have just elected by heart. In all this we see the benencent workings of a practical education-the sort of education that one needs hourly in this work-a-day world of ours. In point of erudite literary education he probably fell below Garfield, certainly below Tilden and perhaps below Cleveland. But in the knowledge necessary to enable the nation to surmount a come back into the G. O. P. camp and great industrial crisis he towered a work with the only real friends of silhead-and-shoulders above them all Mr. Lincoln was not a highly-educated man in the conventional sense of the term, yet many of his State papers abound with as crisp and exqu English as can be found in the archives of any nation of earth. McKinley's eches have something of the same flavor, always appealing to the patriotism of the people, always full of significance, always delivered in good temper, and, best of all always couched in language of no equivocal import. This is one of the most forcible examples of the value of a practical education that has been given to the world for many long and eventful years. To sum up the great battle that has just been won upon a campaign of popular education, it was something new in the nation's history. It was business election rather than a political one; and McKinley, being a business man by his education and his early training in economics, became the log) cal victor. All other things being equal, the practical quality of his education must have won the battle for him in any event.

BETTER TIMES IN SIGHT.

The business interests of the country have already felt the impetus of the return wave of confidence which is sure to follow closely upon the certainty of Maj. McKinley's election to the Presi dency. Gold has begun to flow into the treasury, instead of flowing out of it. Boston has demanded $1,000,000 in legal-tenders, in exchange for gold, and the demand for currency-espe cially for small bills-at New York is even greater. Some $6,000,000 in assayoffice checks have been deposited for currency at the latter city.

of confidence and foreshadows a busi- | I am in favor of the right for every ness revival of large proportions. The demand for currency of small denominations, such as will be needed in the ordinary transactions of retail trade, is heavy. The business interests of the country are already beginning to align themselves for the better times which are near at hand.

With the great victory which has just been won for sound finance and sound government the tide has turned. It will flow onward in an ever-increas ing flood from now until the day of President McKinley's inauguration. And from that time forward trade and industry will steady themselves and settle down into their legitimate channels, to make the most of the better onditions which will prevail. Our silverite friends-those who are conscien tiously solicitous for the welfare of the country-will be thankful that the Re publican voters of the nation have saved them from themselves.

WHAT HIS ELECTION MEANS.

Had Bryan been elected, a general lock-up of domestic capital, as well as foreign, would have ensued, and the Pacific States would have been the very first ones to feel it. Capital is ever cautious and conservative, especially the money of the far East; and the same man who would readily invest half a million in a Massachusetts or New York enterprise, even though conscious that it would at first yield only a nominal return, would hesitate about laying out the same sum in a venture at the other end of the continent from where he resides and under laws essentially different from those of his own State

Hence it can readily be seen why many men in this State who were Democrats' by affiliation 'wanted the election of McKinley assured. They knew that no eastern capital would be invested here if the choice fell upon the Boy Orator, And this was particularly true of the new beet-sugar industry, which is attracting so much of the public attention, especially in the southern counties of this State.

All the millions of dollars that have en expended for French and German beet sugars in the past two years might have been retained in America if the House Committee of Ways and Means (of which Mr. Bryan was a member) had not placed that article on the free list. Indeed, every pound of it that was used might as well have been made in California. Just now it begins to look as if there would be no lack of capital for the establishment of sugar factories in very county of the State, except Alnine. Invo and Modoc, if the people so desire. Of course those factories which are located in the coastwise counties will pay the best, because the sea is always the very cheapest road to market: and, as, Senator Perkins remarked one good steam schooner is worth a whole board of railroad commission ers when it comes down to a reductor

But it is not alone in the establish ment of beet-sugar factories that Mc-Kinley's election will be of help to California. The major is also a good friend to the Nicaragua Canal project and fully realizes its great importance as a war measure. He is a man of broad-gauge ideas upon all national measures and will be found ready and willing to aid any and all measures conducive to the development of the whole country. It is a fortunate thing for the nation in general and for the Pacific States in particular. The Republican party made no mistake in selecting the Man of Destiny as its standard-bearer.

PIPES IS A BRICK.

In making this assertion we intend no reference to "Jeems Pipes of Pipes ville," as the song-writer, Stephen C. Massett, used to be called in his days as a monologue showman. The party we mean is Hon. M. L. Pipes, who was elected some years ago by the Demo crats of Benton county, Or., to the comparatively insignificant and obscure position of County Judge. In that State all the important cases are tried in the State Circuit Courts, of which there are six.

The Chicago platform was too much for Pipe's ordinarily robust sto

He came from a good old war-Demo crat family that believed in the right of Abraham Lincoln to govern this country, with the aid and consent of Congress, because he was the constitutionally-elected President of the United States. So when Bryan was nominated, as an hysterical candidate on an insane platform, Judge Pipes "took to the woods" and came out flatfooted for McKinley.

Last Saturday's Oregonian contains speech made by him in the city of Portland, on the previous night, which would have been telegraphed verbatim to the New York papers had it been made by either Boutelle or Speaker Reed. He may not possess Boutelle's polish of manner or that terribly ener getic delivery that characterizes "the big fellow" from Maine, but if he be correctly reported, his speech will com pare favorably with anything that either of them has said. Among other things Judge Pipes said:

"I will not vote the Chicago ticket. I am in favor of a civilized government. I will not vote for a government that cannot carry its own mails to its own people. I am in favor of a government that protects me. I will not vote for a government that cannot that cannot the carry that cannot be considered. not vote for a government that canno see me safely across my own country I am in favor of a government that governs. I will not vote for a man who affects to believe that the ownership of private property is an act of public hostility."

The speech teems with utterances quite as forcible as the foregoing. It was replete with logic and full of a clever type of wit that was never suffered to deteriorate into buffoonery. Had Mr. Pipes made such a speech in Los Angeles as that, the people would have unhitched the horses from his carriage and drawn him home by hand. We shall need a visit from that gentle man at the gubernatorial election of 1898 and shall expect from him a fitting speech to close up "the greatest State campaign ever held since California was admitted into the Union."

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The recent decision of Judge Sage of the United States court at Cincinnati in the bankruptcy case of the Fidelity National Bank of that city, is som thing that will be read with interest as it fully covers the liability attaching to the elected officers of financial corporations. In the fore part of March, 1887, L. H. Harper, president of the bank above referred to, without consulting his fellow-directors in the bank. negotiated a loan from the Chemical National Bank of New York, which is supposed to be the strongest bank in the United States. The loan was for the large sum of $300,000, and when the Fidelity Bank failed and went into liquidation, the directors denied all knowledge of such a loan having been made. Mr. Armstrong, who had been appointed receiver of the broken bank refused to recognize the validity of the loan because the trustees had not been consulted as to its negotiation. The Chemical Bank then brought suit to enforce the payment of the loan, alleging that it had been made upon the representation of an accredited officer of the bank, in good faith: and that complainant had no means of knowing the methods of Fidelity Bank through familiarity with its bylaws of other instruments of its government. Bank had advanced the money in good faith, and therefore gave a decree for the plaintiff, with nine years' interest

And while it at first looks like s hardship upon the other directors in the bank, the finding is naturally a just one. One would suppose that the proposition to borrow so large an amount would have naturally incited inquiry into the affairs of the Fidelity Bank before making the loan, but that bank had probably been a heavy borrower on previous occasions, and, as it had met all demands promptly, there were no suspicions attaching to the request. Suppose the manager of The Times should telegraph to a house in New York or San Francisco for $10,000 worth of paper, is it at all likely that the paper house would stop to inquire whether the directors of the Times-Mirror Company had been consulted about the purchase? Not at all. The going train, together with a statement of account, and that is all there would be to it. The Chemical Bank manager knew that Harper was president of the Fidelity Bank and never stopped to inquire whether there were any restrictions upon his action or limitations to his powers. The decison will go far toward establishing a precedent of importance in financial circles; and although the sum of money involved is a heavy one, yet there is little probability that the case will be appealed, or reversed if appeal should be taken.

The wool men of California are jubi lant over McKinley's election, and they have a right to be. A Fresno dispatch in this morning's Times says tha Jacob Rosenberg, president of the Wool Men's Association, sent a message to Maj. McKinley reading as follows: Hon. William McKinley, President elect of the United States: The wool men of California send their congratusolemnly announced to the Associated Press that there had been "no change in the situation." This announcement cannot be regarded otherwise than as significant. If a formal conference between these high and mighty factotums of the silver trust is powerless to change the situation, it is greatly to be feared that the situation cannot be changed by any earthly power.

This election has produced no figures nore interesting than those which come from North Carolina. In 1892 that State gave Cleveland a plurality over Harrison of 32,609 and a side-vot for Populist Weaver of 44,736, a total of 77,345. This year Bryan's majority will not, even on his own estimate, exceed 15,000, and it may fall to 10,000. A drop of 62,345 from Popocratism to Republicanism in four years is a good sign that if "the lamp holds out to burn" even those 15,000 sinners may turn themselves into the right fold before another four years go by.

The prudent and careful man who wants to own a gold mine would bette stay in California and prospect some of the territory adjacent to Los Angeles. When a man goes to mining in Mexic he is liable to be robbed by guerrillas If he escapes that the government is liable to get hard up and want to borrow from him. The prospector who tries his luck on the Mojave Desert may not strike it as rich as he would in Mexico, but what he does get will be all his own property.

The railway employees in and about the city of Portland, Or., to the number of 796, published an appeal to the voters of that State, in last Saturday's Oregonian, which for plain good sense has never been surpassed by any document of its kind. It was brimful of the patriotism of 1861, when so many railroad men rallied to the call for volunteers that there were not enough men left to move the trains. Oregon's railway men voted right, and all honor to

Mr. Cleveland's popular majority ver Gen. Harrison in 1892 was considered something phenomenal. It was 380,810. It is a comforting thought to know that Maj. McKinley's popular majority over Mr. Bryan will be four times that, or about 1,500,000. How is that for a very decided opinion in respect to anarchy and repudiation? The grand majority of the people of this country do not want one or the other and have said so in a very loud tone of voice.

The way in which the "Hurled" is keeping up its graveyard whistle is not loing that paper any real good. It causes the reading public to lose faith in its statements (if ever it had any) and it causes foolish men to be led astray by its grapevine telegrams and bet money without a single chance on earth to win it. The "Hurled" is not a newspaper.

Not only Chairman Jones but also Mr. Bryan at last concede the election of Maj. McKinley. The people of the United States conceded it two days ago; but until Mr. Jones, Mr. Bryan and the Los Angeles "Hurled" had decided to indorse the decision of the American people the matter remained in doubt Chairman Jones is at last forced to come out and admit what every man of plain common-sense knew nearly forty-eight hours ago-that McKinley is elected beyond the slightest chance of a doubt. For genuine Simon-pure obstinacy Jones surpasses the traditional government mule.

ATTRACTION TONIGHT. Della Fox, the popular comic opera star, will be the attraction at the Los Angeles Theater tonight, and the remainder of the week, presenting operettas, new to this city, "The mainder of the week, presenting two operettas, new to this city, "The Little Trooper" and "Fleur de Lis." These creations are said to serve admirably to show off the talents of the sprightly Della. Both are tuneful and merry, and as Miss Fox is said to be supported by a strong company, an enjoyable season may be anticipated. "The Little Trooper," which has a French origin, abounds in striking musical numbers, including "No, Love, You Must Not Know," "My First Request," "I'll Be Confessing," "There's Magic in a Flashing Eye," and others which possess a considerable amount of French sprightliness and swing.

"Fleur de Lis" is also taken from the French. the scenes being laid in St. Claude, France, during the era of Louis XIV.

St. Claude, France, during the era of Louis XIV.

Della Fox was born in St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 13. 1872, and is consequently 24 years of age. She first appeared as a child of 6, in her native town with James O'Neill, in the production of "A Celebrated Case." and afterward was selected as the midshipmite in a juvenile "Pinafore," company. While but a little miss of 10, she was selected to play the title role of Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's delightful little story of "Editha's Burglar," which had been adapted for the stage by Augustus Thomas, now a prominent playwright. Miss Fox's performance of Editha is said to have been one of the brightest things seen on the stage for many years. In 1890 the De Wolf Hopper Opera Company was organized, and Miss Fox was selected as the comedian soubrette. She continued with that company until 1894, when she made her debut as a comic opera star at the New York Casino in Goodwin & Furst's opera, "The Little Trooper." The success she then made enabled her to establish herself as a permanent light opera star.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

To get himself elected President of these United States, a man needs to have something more than the "wild, weird, wonderful gift of gab."

One orange-grower of this county has received the first installment of his dividend of prosperity from his investment in McKinley stock. Yesterday he sold his orange crop to a mar who wouldn't buy a thing and wouldn't talk business at all before election.

They are all "McKinley men" now the fellows who stood on the curb stones and yelled "Bryan" at march ing Republicans. Why? Because real McKinley men are feeling good and are likely to say: "Have one with me" to a stranger who wears the yellow

Upon being assured of McKinley's election, a San Diego man at once opened his safe-deposit box and took therefrom $20,000 in gold and deposited it in the bank. He had provided this little nest-egg against the possibility of stormy times which he feared in case of Bryan's election. This is one of the straws which indicates the way the wind has been blowing during the months of uncertainty caused by the extreme methods of cheap-money ad-

A great many people continue to wear campaign badges, buttons and ribbons thus making themselves look like a house decorated for the Fourth of July three days after the celebration. Friends and fellow-citizens, the country has been saved, McKinley is elected, and all is well. Put away the campaign button and the bit of ribbon campaign button and the bit of ribbon, white or yellow that denoted which side you were on. We are to have a new President, and a President of all the people at that. Lets' all stand loyally by him as we would by the other man had he been elected. Take in your sign for you cannot make any more votes by it.

A great deal of interest is being centered in the election retruns from the several precincts of the county . Som Democratic-Popocrats have shown alarm lest the returns be spir-ited away. Clerk Newlin discovered a man on the outside of the Courtthan on the outside of the Court of the county watching room No. 7, whence the returns are being placed in a vault. He invited the man into the building and told him he could watch till he grew weary during the day, but he would be locked out when the employes left the office at 5 o'clock in the evening. The Demo-Pops have now placed a man on guard during both day and night, and the Republican County Central of Supervisors were determined not to be outdone in a small matter like this, and placed a deputy sheriff over the thouse building yesetrday, intently watching room No. 7, whence the reand placed a deputy sheriff over the two guardsmen last night. Clerk Newbusiness and sealed the big vault before leaving the Courthouse at the close of business last evening.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2, 1896.—(To the Editor of The Times:) I notice that the Supreme Court of this State was very handsomely entertained on Wednesday evening of last week by Mr. Slauson-

Of course everybody knows that no outside influence could have the least outside influence could have the least effect on the mind of the court on any question which should come before it. but it looks like bad taste, to speak of it mildly, for a man, who is a defendant in a case of vast importance, who wines and dines the court the night before the case was to be argued. This may have been a social indiscretion on the part of Mr. Slauson, yet there was once a law that no litigant should have a private conversation with a member of the jury before whom his case was to be tried, if this law was proper for the juror, is it not equally proper for the rich litigant?

They still insist that Maceo passed the military line after having bombarded Artemisa. As a matter of fact the Spanish commanders admit they are not aware of the whereabouts of Maceo. Antonio Maceo has moved to the plain country, that is to say, to the south coast of Pinar del Rio, with the intention to make an attempt to pass the trocha, protected in the meantime, as he hopes, by insurgents at the rear of the trocha. He is at present supposed to be at Carojal, in the direction of the swamp of Majalia. If he does not accept a battle he will be obliged to go further toward Dananuygits, for advance by Pueblo Nuevo, taking the road to Cayajahos, and thus get La Gloria to La Sierra. It is thought probable that it will be difficult for him to pass by the south coast to the west portion of Pinar del Rio, because Gen. Weyler has stationed 2000 cavalry to prevent that movement near Candelaria.

prevent that movement near Candelaria.

Capt.-Gen. Weyler's columns are fortifying the strategic positions taken from the insurgents in the mountains of Pinar del Rio, so as to form a strong base of operations. When once these are finished, Gen. Weyler calculates he will be able to dispose of 10,000 more men in the fursuit of Maceo, and it is the general opinion that he will be able to give a decisive blow.

The insurgents have dynamited the culvert of the railroad at San Cristobal, in the privince of Pinar del Rio, detaining a passenger train until the next day.

The military Governor of Cabasar, Havana province, learned that the insurgents were in the habit of passing daily across the fiver to Almendares. He prepared an ambuscade, as the result of which the insurgents lost one man and the well known leader, La Flurcade, also being wounded in the leg.

Gen. Polavieja was commander o the Spanish Army Corps and has had considerable experience in Cuba, where he earned the nickname of "The Butcher." He was a subordinate of Martinez de Campos at the time of the Virginius affair, and the Cubans accuse him of murdering prisoners and other cruelties. He entered the army in 1868, when the ten-year war was begun in Cuba, and was steadily pro-moted until he became general. Refore the close of the war he was Governor of the province of Santiago de Cuba, and after the revolution he was made Captain-General of Cuba, retaining that office ontil 1892. Gen. Pola-vieja was born in Madrid and his father was engaged in trading with the Philippine Islands.

in the Saloon Business. The appended statements reached The Times too late for publication beore election day. But inasmuch as they are both specific and satisfactory, and fully refute some of the slanders against Mr. and Mrs. McKinley, they are now published as a matter of simple justice:

CANTON (O.,) Oct. 29, 1896.

To whom it may concern: Many inquiries having been made as to saloon property in Canton in which it is charged that Gov. McKinley or his wife is interested, I have investigated the same as pastor of the church of which the Governor and his wife are members, and make the following statement:

which the Governor and his wife are members, and make the following statement:

James Saxton, the father of Mrs Mc-Kinley, was the owner of considerable real estate in and about this city. Among other pieces owned by him, was one small three-cornered lot on South Market street, which, in the division of the property after his death, came to Mrs. McKinley.

Previous to Mr. Saxton's death in 1887, he had leased for a term of years this piece of ground to the Reyman Brewing Company for $75 per year, and upon this ground the company afterward erected a building which was used by them as a warehouse and distributing agency.

This lease expired in 1892, and the agent prepared a new lease upon the same terms and for the same amount. At this time Maj. McKinley was the Governor of Ohio, and resided in Columbus.

After the renewal of the lease, the

After the renewal of the lease, the After the renewal of the lease, the Reyman Brewing Company granted to another party the privilege of putting in bar fixtures, and since that time (1893) a saloon has been in existence there. The lease will not terminate until 1898, so that, until that time, the matter is beyond the control of Maj. and Mrs. McKinley. Meanwhile, the estate receives the small sum of $75 per year, and no more, ground rent only.

per year, and no more, ground rent only.

It having been charged that either Maj. or Mrs. McKinley is connected with Balser's saloon situated within two blocks of their own residence, I inclose herewith a copy of Mrs. Balser's affidavit.

Any statement that Maj. McKinley has any connection with the liquor

Any statement that Maj. McKinley has any connection with the liquor business is false. He is a member of our church and of its board of trustees, and his standing as a Christian and a temperance man is in no wise affected by these charges.

I wish you might know him as his neighbors of a lifetime know him. His character is above reproach or criticism, and no man can find in his life anything but to admire and commend. The silly capaign stories are answered best by his own unblemished life.

For more than twenty years before the people, filling high public stations, his whole life an open book, it is surprising that there could be found men who could question his character.

Hoping and believing that this statement will be perfectly satisfactory to you, and to all fair-minded people, I remain. Sincerely yours,

C. E. MANCHESTER.

THE DECREASE IN THE SHEEP CENSUS.

CENSUS.

J. R. Dodge in the Wool Growers Bulletin meets the view expressed in some newspapers that either the "re-duction of our national flocks has been overestimated, or that the increasing numbers in market have been due to the general disposal of breeding flocks," with the opinion that the latter theory is inconsistent with the constantly-in-creasing number of lambs in market. It is quite certain that the national official statement is an overestimate. Mr Dodge says his information is full and able that ewes in large num bers have been fattened and sent t pers have been fattened and sent to market, notably in Texas, and that breeding flocks have been depleted heavily. State official enumeration show this. The estimate from local re-turns of B. W. Snow, ex-assistant sta-tistician of the Department of Agricul ture—a statistician of broader experience, higher aptitude and greater success than any other in the field of statistical investigation—is about 32,000,000, or 6,000,000 less than the January estimate of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Dodge says his experience attests the remarkable facility for decrease of flocks where sheep husbandy is unprofitable, and the less sudden but steady increase where that industry has the favorable regard of stockgrowers. ture-a statistician of broader exper-

HISTORICAL

HISTORICAL.

In 1868, when markets were glutted and prices of wool low throughout the world, the disgust of Ohio and Michigan farmers sacrificed 4,000,000 sheep, and few went to meat markets, most of them to the rendering vats, after stripping off their skins. I am glad to see that in the present depression few have been thus sacrificed, while the exports, as well as domestic consumption, have increased. Another source of loss has been heavy. The last census returned 2,412,276 died within the year from disease or stress of weather, and 612,329 killed by dogs—of farm flocks, all told, over 3,000,000. The greater ratio of loss on ranches would swell this loss to 4,000,000. An increase of 25 per cent. from deficiency of care or greater neglect, in these times when flocks are deemed in some districts more a burden than a blessing, would easily swell this loss, for a time at least, to 5,000,000 per annum. Now let us look at the lamb account, and the facilities for increase. In 1890, when farm flocks were reported 35,395,364, the number of lambs dropped was returned at 12,623,257 or 35 per cent. of the number of sheep. Including range flocks, the total lamb crop would be in round numbers 15,000,000, with an annual loss of 4,000,000 under most favorable circumstances, leaving possibly 11,000,000 for slaughter, either as lambs or sheep, or for increase of flocks. The number of spring lambs sold for consumption in 1889 was returned from farms as 3,372,535, and including range lambs could not be less than 4,000,000. A single lamb slaughtered for home use by each of the flock-owners would make another million, leaving but 6,000,000 to replace sheep slaughtered on farms and ranches and sent to eastern and western and local markets.

GREATER DECREASE IN BAD In 1868, when markets were glutted

GREATER DECREASE IN BAD TIMES. This is the status in good times, when there is an increase of flocks by superior care of sheep and by lambs dropped, and from higher prices, which tond to diminish consumption. When end to diminish consumption. When sheep husbandry is depressed and un popular, on the contrary, the loss from disease and neglect is increased, the lamb crop is reduced, markets are glutted with cheap mutton, and the fat sheep surplus is forced into the export movement. This has been the case dur-ing the past three years as never be-fore. Note the receipts and shipments at four markets in 1885 and 1895:

The Fire Commission Continues Its Investigation of the Discrepancies Found in the Department Pay-roll.

At the City Hall yesterday the Fire Commission held a special session to continue the investigation of the irregularities discovered in the fire department pay-roll. The Sewer Commit-tee held its usual meeting.

At the Courthouse yesterday Carlos Martyn, Jr., appeared in Department One and pleaded gullty to obtaining money under false pretenses. He was sentenced to five years imprisonment in San Quentin. T. J. Brown, charged with burglarizing the store of Warren in East Los Angeles, was on trial before Judge Smith yesterday. A colored man named Howard was booked at the County Jail upon a charge of counter-feiting. There were two insane commitments, and more suits than usual were filed. ### LOSE A MONTH'S WAGES.

THREE MEMBERS OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Their Warrants Were "Hung Up" by the Commissioners and Will not Be Honored-Result of Special Session.

As a result of a two hours' session held by the Fire Commissioners yes-terday, three callmen, or substitute callmen, will not receive any salary for the month of October. These three men are Thye, Conley and Selig. The action depriving them of the salary money was taken after investigation had convinced the commission that they—the callmen—had not been prop-erly appointed, and had not performed service for which they deserved pay.

At 2:30° o'clock, the Fire Commission may be according to appointment in the Mayor's office. The meeting was an adjourned one, and the only business before the board was the continuance of an investigation of the inaccuracies found in the department pay-roll several weeks ago. Chief Moore was present at the beginning of the meeting. Assistant Chief Smith was called in later.

several weeks ago. Chief Moore was present at the beginning of the meeting. Assistant Chief Smith was called in later.

It will be remembered that an inspection conducted by Commissioners Grider, Vetter, and Botts of the fire department pay-roll, and the engine-house reports. recently, revealed that a number of men were draining pay from the city with the Fire Commissioners ignorant of the fact that the men in question were connected with the department. At a meeting of the commission last Friday, Chief Moore was called upon to explain the matier. He admitted that three or four men had been carried on the pay-roll without being on the engine-house reports, but declared that his failure to place them there was due to a lack of clerical assistance.

Yesterday the commission devoted two hours' time to a discussion of the matter, with the result as stated above, that three of the men in question yere deprived of the salary that they would have drawn for the month of October. These men "resigned" from the department several days ago, so the Chief reported, in answer to the questions of the Mayor.

No new facts were ellicited by the discussion of the matter yesterday.

No new facts were elicited by the discussion of the matter yesterday. Commissioner Vetter summed up the situation by saying that, "men had been carried by the Chief, and paid by the city, without their names appearing on the engine-house rosters, as being connected with the fire department, and with the commission being kept ignorant of the fact that they were thus carried."

In reply to this the Chief declared thus carried.

In reply to this, the Chief declared that he might have exceeded his authority in thus keeping these men, but he had not intended to do other than the right thing. He had no excuse to offer for his failure to notify the com oner for his failure to notify the com-mission of the matter.

The Mayor thought that the Chief showed a lack of courtesy to the com-mission at least. Mr. Vetter thought the Chief displayed a singular lack of business ability in neglecting to make business ability in neglecting to make his pay-roll and reports tally. The other commissioners thought a great deal, judging from their remarks, all of which indicated that they resented the appointment of men by the Chief, who, it was admitted, had not made application to the board for appointment, were not in some instances respond to fire alarms, or do what is expected of a freman in the way of service Most feeling kept in ignorance of these appointments.

At 4:30 o'clock the commission ad-pointments.

At 4:30 o'clock the commission adjourned, after deciding that three of these callmen should not receive pay for October. Other action in the matter was deferred until next Wednesday.

The Sewer Committee's Work.

The Sewer Committee yesetrday prepared a report to the Council, recom-mending that M. A. Stewart be allowed to connect with a sewer in the alley between Whittier and Stewart streets; and George Cordell be allowed to make a lateral connection with the sewer at Sixth and Crocker streets.

was a fat bug and vigorous, and his round black eyes and flexible antennae had a most knowing and cheerful look as he made the most of himself in the peak of the roof.

People passing on the street stopped to look and laugh, and many a good wish was shouted to the clambering insect in his upward course. Silverites discouraged him, and confidently predicted that he would never reach the roof, but he climbed right along until 2 a.m. Wednesday, when he suddenly found his journey at an end, and himself very much on top.

His manufacturer, after a tour of the bulletin boards, started for home and the bug. The family was hastily routed out in the search for hammer, nails and string, to put that gold bug where he belonged. The rising sun was greeted by the bug and the flag, and there he stands yet, fixed in the midst of a frantic dance of glee, and proclaiming to everyone in sight the triumph of McKinley and sound money.

MARTYN'S CONFESSION.

PLEADS GUILTY AND IS SENTENCED TO SAN QUENTIN.

e Asked to Be Sent to San Quentin and Was Given Five Years in That Institution-Brown's Jury

Carlos Martyn, Jr., the young confidence man who touched Rev. Burt Estes Howard's heart and caused that reverend gentleman to open his purse-strings while under his hypnotic in-fluence, appeared before Judge Smith in Department One early yesterday morning. unaccompanied by friend or lawyer.

Deputy District Attorney Willis filed an information charging the youth with obtaining $100 from Rev. Mr. Howard through the influence of letters and representations to the effect that he had fallen heir to large property through the sudden death of his grandfather in San Francisco. This m was obtained on September 16 of the resent year. S. F. Loughborough, a traveling S. F. Loughborough, a traveling salesman for a carriage manufactory, sat with the officers and witnessed the melancholy proceedings. Mr. Loughborough is the man approached by Martyn for a loan of $500 for the purpose of defraying the expenses of himself and wife to Washington city, where Martyn had secured the position of secretary of the Nicaragua legation. To this gentleman Martyn grew moet grandiloquent in portraying the splendor of his inheritance. Its value in bonds. stocks, money, etc., etc., aggregated at least 180,000 and included the Leland Stanford residence and statuary in Washington.

The court asked the youthful sinner it he had an attorney or desired one, and he answered negatively to both questions ahd added that he desired to plead guilty and receive sentence at once. In answer to questions by the court he said he was 24 years of age and had no profession; that he had lived in this city for several months, and had been conducting a stereoptic on advertising business on his own account; that he came to this city from Chicago, where he occupied the position of electrician in one of the street railway systems, being in charge of the engine-rooms.

rainway systems, being in charge of the engine-rooms.

Young Martyn looked as though he had lost his last friend on earth when he made the further statement that he was born and reared in New York City; had a wife in this city, and requested the court to throw him behind the gloomy walls of San Quentin.

Deputy Willis addressed the court with the declaration that while the defendant had pleaded guilty, yet it was not a case that called for any degree of clemency, as there were numerous other charges that could be brought against the defendant, but in view of the young man pleading guilty, the the young man pleading guilty, the District Attorney hed consented to dismiss the other charges.

The court looked at Martyn pityingly for a moment and then said that he seemed to possess the elements of intellectual superiority that would intellectual superiority that would make it unnecessary to comment upon his crime; that he (Martyn) had transgressed the law in open violation of the rights of others and in a full knowledge of the degrading consequences of crime. "In view of these facts your sentence should be severe. It is the order of this court that you be confined in San Quentin for a period of five years" declared the court in conclusion.

The young man's wife visited him at the County Jah yesterday afternoon, and their leave-taking is reported to have been very affectionate.

Martyn told the officials at the county bastile that he is a graduate of Princeton College and of the law department at Ann Arbor, University of Michigan. He professed also to have considerable attainments in electrical sciences.

THE EAST SIDE BURGLARY.

Brown is Found Guilty in the Second Degree.

T. J. Brown, a young man about 25 years of age, is having a harder tim than the man accused jointly with him of the burglary of C. T. Warren's store at No. 520 Downey avenue, in East Los Angeles. Charters was ac quitted by the jury within a few room. But in the case of Brown, his case was closed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at a late hour last evening the ujry brought in a verdict of guilty.

o'clock on the morning of July 24. They were at a tamale stand. After tarrying there for a few minutes they started away in the direction of East Los Angeles. The next time he saw the defendant he was with Charters in a saloon on Main street; this was in the forenoon of the following day; they were playing pool; Charters was placed under arrest and when he went away in custody he called back to Brown that he "would be back pretty soon;" about an four later he saw Brown (this defendant,) in the patrol wagon as it passed up Second street on the way to the Police Station.

The brushes, paint and miscellaneous plunder were shown to the witness and he identified them as the articles taken from Charters when searched at the station.

from Charters when searched at the station.

Detective Bradish was the next witness called by the prosecution. This officer testified that the first time he saw Brown was on the afternoon of July 24; Singleton had brought in Charters with the stuff. In company with Detective Steele he went to Charters's room and knocked upon the door; no one answered and they procured a ladder and looked into the room from the transom; saw Brown in the room lying upon a bed; he god down from the step-ladder and pushed the key through the door, unlocked the door and went in; lying about the room were four cans of varnish, nineteen small cans of paint, several brushes and the "grip," containing the tools, etc.

Mr. Bradish said that when he questimed the statement of the said that when he questimed the said that the said th

Mr. Bradish said that when he questioned the defendant he denied all knowledge of these articles, but when he was taken to the Police Station Brown said: "The fact is, Charters and I took that stuff out of a store on the East Side; no use of denying it." To this Steele asked how they carried all that stuff away, and the defendant answered that they carried it down San Fernando street; that when the defendant was asked how they got into the store, he replied that they broke a glass and reached in and unlocked the door.

To this Steele asked how they carried all that stuff away, and the defendant answered that they carried it down San Fernando street; that when the defendant was asked how they got into the store, he replied that they broke a glass and reached in and unlocked the door.

The plunder was shown the witness and he identified it by examining the goods and calling off the articles from a memorandum prepared at the time of the seizure. "But," said the detective, "one article is missing; in the grip was a pair of nippers for opening locks."

Detective Steele gave similar testimony to that of the other members of the city police.

The prosecution now rested and the defendant testified in his own behalf. He said the goods were purchased at night from a man under the Buena Vista-street bridge, and declared that he was innocent of the charge of having entered the store of Warren and stolen the goods.

At the conclusion of Brown's statement Deputy District Attorney McComas opened for the people and was followed by Mr. Blakely for the defendant. Mr. McComas made the clossing address to the jury and warmed up herofoally for one of his best efforts. His arguments were forcible and carried weight with the jury. The jury retired at a little after 3 o'clock and brought in a verdict of guilty in the second degree at 8:30 o'clock last night.

The communication was referred to Dr. Rowland, Health Officer, with instructions to abate the nuisance, and their removal all the formunication was received, asking that the Artesia was received, asking that the Artesia vas receiv brought in a verdict of guilty in the second degree at 8:30 o'clock last night.

An Interesting Exhibit The Merchants' and Manufacturers

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association is in receipt of a letter from the Hon. John E. Richards of the San Francisco Call, stating that he wifl send a very handsome exhibit representing the Call, to be placed in the forthcoming Los Angeles Home Products Exhibition.

Letters of inquiry are coming in from all parts of the State showing great interest in this distinctively Southern California enterprise. The emulation among manufacturers of this city promises to be very lively. The exhibition will be a great center of attraction both to residents of Los Angeles and to the throngs of tourists

Early Shipment of Oranges. One of the fruit companies shipped a car of new-crop California oranges to Chicago yesterday. The fruit was well colored and fairly sweet, and is the second car of oranges shipped East this season. Both of these shipments are unusually early, and are in advance of shipments from the central and northern portions of the State, where the fruit has heretofore been earlier than the Southern California oranges.

"There are 600 property-owners on Main street subejet to assessment for this paving, and it is safe to say that with the evidence before them. no one will be inclined to pay, without a contest, if nothing is done to remedy this deficiency in the paving material. The tCouncil has very properly authorized the City Engineer to have other analyses made of the material and in spite of the stolid opposition of the Superintendent of Streets there is no doubt that justice will be done.

"It will be in order to consider the offer of the asphalt men to 'guarantee' their work after it has been proved that they have lived up to their first contract, which is to lay a surface according to certain specifications. If it should be proved that they have falled in this, any further contract or guarantee of theirs would be of little value."

A WORD TO FOREIGN INVESTORS.

A WORD TO FOREIGN INVESTORS

The warning recently issued by the British Consul-General in San Fran-British Consul-General in San Fran-cisco to British investors and settlers in California has aroused much atten-tion on the outside, and may possibly have the effect of discouraging some who were thinking of investing money in California real estate. When this report is examined, however, it be-comes apparent that the ill fortune that the attended some foreign investments comes apparent that the ill fortune that has attended some foreign investments in California might have been easily avoided had the investors exercised the most ordinary elements of business sense, which are considered requisite by investors in this country. As The Times has already said, in nine cases out of ten, the misfortunes of these foreign investors are due, not to extortion or fraud on part of the California land-owner, but to an excess of greed on part of the British agent who negotiates the deal, and is frequently not satisfied with less than 25 to 50 per cent profit on the transaction. Then the property is taken to England and incorporated perhaps at twice the amount paid for it, which is all right whenever that money is used for the development of the bare land, but such is not always the case, the difference between the purchase price and the amount for which the company.

Foreign investors will find that California land-owners, as a rule, are responsible and reliable men, who are willing to give the purchaser a square deal. If foreign investors would exercise the same care in their enterprises as is the custom of American investors, cise the same care in their enterprises as is the custom of American investors, as is the custom of American investors, and would themselves investigate matters a little more closely, instead of entrusting everything to agents of whom they know little or nothing, we should hear less about dissatisfaction with investments in California.

There are few sections of the civilized world which offer such inducements to the judicious investment of capital in land for improvement subdivision and sale as does Southern California. The margin between the price at which large tracts may be purchased —wholesale, and the legitimate price at which small tracts may be disposed of at retail—is very great, and such land is easily sold, provided the purland is easily sold, provided the purat which small tracts may be disposed of at retail—is, very great, and such land is easily sold, provided the purchasers are willing to sell on easy terms of payment, which is a matter of indifference to investing capitalists, as long as they receive a fair interest on the deferred payments.

AGRICULTURAL LAND.

The sharp rise in the price of wheat, and the prospective establishment of several beet-sngar factories in this section, have caused a notable increase in the demand for land in Southern California adapted to general agriculture. Such land has hitherto been in a measure neglected for the higher priced horticultural land, adapted to the growth of deciduous and/citrus fruits. With such land irrigation is generally needed, and the land is, of course, quite expensive, at least from an eastern standpoint. Now, there is promise that the cheaper lands of this section will be in good demand, that is to say, such land as may be bought at prices ranging from $40 to $80 per acre of which there is a considerable quantity between the Tebachepi and the Mexican line. The subdivision and sale of such land will bring into Southern Cali-

Owing to the political excitement there has been no pretense of doing business in real estate during the prassweek. The favorable effects of the Presidential election are, however, already apparent in the prospective clossing up of a number of deals which have been held over until the result should be known. It is probable that the coming few weeks will witness a number of important deals, and agents feel assured of a first-class trade during the winter.

MAIN-STREET PAVING.

There appears to be something like a "hoodoo" on the Main-street paving business. Trouble thas now arisen in regard to the quality of the asphalt that is being used by the contractors.

AMERICA.

The question of foreign ownership of large tracts of land in this country crops up from time to time, and cre held by owners in the presse of many are agent and are rented out to tenants, the system is a bad one for the country at large, restarding development. This statement is, however, eater owners are able to the political excitement there has been no pretense of doing business in real estate during the past week. The favorable effects of the President part of the States as in Ireland. The Recorder figures the amount of land in the United States owned by foreigners at the vast amount of 21,240,900 acres, which is considerably larger than all the New English syndicate with lands in Texas, which owns over 3,000,000 acres; the Anglo-American Syndicate of London, 750,000 acres; the British Land Com-750,000 acres; the British Land Com-

Wharley, M.P., of Peterboro, 310,000 acres; Lord Dunmore, 120,000 acres; Benjamin Neugas of Liverpool, 120,000 acres; M. Ellhauser, a wealthy Parisian, owns 600,000 acres in West Virginia; Lord Houghton, 60,000 acres in Florida; Lord Dunraven, 60,000 acres in Kansas; A. Boyson, Danish Consul, 50,000 acres; Sir J. L. Kay of Yorkshire, Eng., 5000 acres."

It is stated that new lands, embracing thousands of acres, are daily being added to the list. The Times has frequently expressed itself against any legislation that would tend to discourage the investment of foreign capital, which is so much needed in this undeveloped western country, but, as above stated, the system of renting out land to tenants, whether the owners be Europeans or Americans, is a vicious one, and should be discouraged as much as possible.

THE "SPREAD" BUILDING. The Builder and Contractor has the following interesting remarks on evariety of architecture known among a support of the contractor of th architects as the "spread" which twenty-five years ago promised to be generally adopted in this co try, but has of late lost its hold in architectural favor:

"What may be designated as the spread building is the structure built after the style of St. Paul's cathedral and other ecclesiastical and municipal structures of Europe. The most conspicuous instance of this style of structure on this coast is the City Hall of San Francisco; it was commenced twenty-five years ago, and though it cost six million dollars, it is generally recognized as an architectural failure.

"The trouble with this structure is that it covers too much ground without regard to exterior proportions; instead of giving the eye the effect of a single building, it presents a group-of building that robs the artistic sense of any pleasing effect. It is safe to say, the proposition of the structure is the safe to say, the proposition of the control of the artistic sense of any pleasing effect. It is safe to say, the proposition of the safe to say the any pleasing effect. It is safe to say, if this building were started today, instead of in 1876, it would not be built after its present plan.

"There is much to be regretted and "There is much to be regretted and condemned about the system prevalent in the United States of determining upon plans for public structures and adopting the same. Too often there is no trained artistic sense brought to bear upon the subject of the adoption of plans; this business is given to unskilled superpisors or to a board of aldermen, whose judgments are blunt enough on such things were they kept free; but sadly to realize, these judgments are sometimes warped through interests which prompt their acceptance of certain plans without regard to their merit. Few architects there are who have not experienced in cominterests which prompt their acceptionance of certain plans without regard to their merit. Few architects there are who have not experienced in competitions that awards escaped them because of this character of "pull," until it has come to be a question with many as to, whether it is really worth while to put in a plan on a competition. "The failure of the 'spread' class of buildings is that they do not give the impression of proportion and architectural effect! A piece of architecture is a study in art, like a picture or a work of statuary; it should be pleasing to the eye and impressive to the soul, and this cannot be obtained where the structure is made up of a group of small buildings and has neither breadth nor height to make it imposing."

"The general ugliness of the San Francisco City Hall is intensified by a big dome which surmounts the central building, like a tiara on a pope, and makes the structure look ill-proporbuilding, like a tiara on a pope, and makes the structure look ill-proportioned and squatty. A dome gets its good effect from distance, height; close to the eye, it is a big bulge of something out of proportion to all of its

Nor is the material of which this city hall is built such as to relieve any of the poorness of the architectural style; it does no look like a new building, but has the appearance of a very old one. The exterior is of brownstone and dark brown mastic, which makes the thing look somber and gloomy, without the majesty of massiveness. There is no polished stone work anywhere, and the only ornamentation is the acanthus crowns on the composite columns. Such a building ought to contain many expressions of the art of the sculptor; not the gingerbread geograws and roof statuary of the San Diego Courthouse, but the strong touches of positive art which we see on Richardson's work, and the New York Statehouse in Albany.

"Examination of the costly structures of the United States which are being built today shows few specimens of the spread' building. In Los Angeles the only one which has thus far appeared is the First Presbyterian Church on the corner of Twentieth and Figueroa streets, which gives the idea, on a cheap scale.

"The 'spread' must not be confused with the patio or the Spanish-Moresque, so many of which are just now appearing in Southern California, and which we predict time will show to be the distinctive architecture of this portion of the State. The distinction between these classes of building is that the spread is simply a group of small buildings instead of a single large structure, and the patio is a large building with an open court within, about which the edifice is built, the exterior elevations presenting the aspect of a building solid all the way through. This, indeed, is the way all large-buildings, especially in Southern California, from the standpoint of climate, should be built; it admits the climate to be a part of the edifice, and mingles the park and sprinkling fountain with the structure.

part of the edifice, and mingles the park and sprinkling fountain with the structure.

"It is to be hoped that in the future structures of the government sort that are to be built in California, warning and benefit will be taken from the error fallen into in the plan of the San Francisco City Hall. The Los Angeles City Hall is bad enough, for that is a cold-weather building in a warm-weather climate; but it has the merit of presenting a distinct expression of the Romanesque; but the San Francisco structure is nothing at all; it cannot be said that it shows any classical type of architecture, nor does it appear to have been built with any idea of relation of parts, for a part of it is square, a part is circular, and this in such an inextricable jumble that the student of science becomes bewildered in the study."

(Garden and Forest.) It is discouraging to those who are trying to improve our garden vegetables that the popularity of vegetables is much more dependent upon appearance than the quality. This is particularly noticeable in tomatoes, and the sort which pleases the eyes, even though not of best quality, is the popular variety. Many of the observers at our experiment stations seem to be influenced in the same way, and their reports would make it appear that the ideal tomato is perfectly round with no sutures, the interior made up with as many and thick partition walls as possible, and that the fewer seeds and the less pulp they contain and the more solid the fruit the better. Now, if one takes out a section of the interior partitions of a tomato so carefully that it receives no flavor from the pulp or exterior wall, it will be found that this is a mass of cellu-(Garden and Forest:) It is discouragof the interior partitions of a tomato so carefully that it receives no flavor from the pulp or exterior wall; it will be found that this is a mass of cellular matter without a particle of flavor. The flavor of a tomato is chiefly in the pulp, though there is usually a little in the exterior wails. The seeds are useless for food, and the fewer and smaller they are the better. But we can have no pulp without seeds, and it is the pulp, not the partition walls or flesh, which gives quality to the fruit. If each seed was in a cavity by itself and surrounded by pulp this would be the most favorable structure for the highest quality. Tomatoes in which the interior is broken up into many cells are desirable rather than because of the thick partition walls or flesh, Again, it is usually the case that the thicker and more solid the pulp the better the flavor. Thin pulp is always acid and harsh in flavor.

The interior, then, of the ideal tomato should be made up of a great many cells separated by thin—not thick and fleshy—partition walls, and filled with thick pulp surrounding small-seds, only the outer walls being thick. There is a great difference in varieties in this most important quality. Usually the skin is removed before the fruit is used, and this can be most easily done from a perfectly smooth, globular fruit.

The stem of a tomato is set in a basin, and the deeper this is the greater the likelihood of the fruit having the objectionable hard center or core, so that in the perfect tomato it should be as shallow as possible As to color, depth and brilliancy, evenness of distribution both on the surface and through the pulp and flesh, and its permanency in cooking, are important characteristics. The color, whether purple, deep red, or yellow-red, is of itself a matter of taste. I have never seen a purple tomato in which the flavor was first-class, it always having a sharp, harsh, metallic-like acid taste far inferior to the rich fruit-like acid of the red sorts. For this reason I think the ideal tomato will be a red one.

A tomato is always at its best as to quality when it is fully ripened on the plant. It may look as well, or even better, if picked before fully ripe and ripened off the vine, but such fruit lacks in quality. To have the best canned tomatoes, fully ripe fruit should be sealed up in the cans within three hours of gathering. There is no fruit in which the highest flavor is more quickly lost, and if housekeepers will try the experiment of putting up perfectly ripe and fresh fruit of a fine-flavored variety, they will appreciate the advantage over partially ripe fruit which has been off the vines for days.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,

Los Angeles, Nov. 5, 1896.
THE EFFECT ON THE FINANCIAL MARKET. The good effect of the result of the Presidential contest on the financial market is quite apparent in Los Angeles. The banks all report that many thousands of dollars which had been withdrawn have again been placed in circulation by timid men who were circulation by timid men who were afraid that the country might declare for the silver standard. It is the general belief among local financiers that the next few months will be charcterized by a remarkable development of business enterprises, calling for the investment of a large amount of capital that has for some time past been kept idie.

THE DECLINE IN SILVER. Much attention has been directed of late to the steady decline in the commercial price of silver, at a time when it might naturally be expected that there would be an appreciation in the value of the metal, owing to the slight prospect of its being used more largely for coinage purposes. Within the past couple of weeks silver has sold at less than 64% cents per ounce in New York, the lowest quotation of the present year. A noteworthy fact is that this decline has occurred in the face of a marked advance in wheat, thus contradicting, as The Times has shown, one of the leading arguments of the advocates of free-silver coinage. Bradstreet's offers the following explanation of the decline in the price of silver:

"The decline of silver is, in this case, a natural one. It requires no lengthy explanation, but can be traced directly to the condition of Eastern exchange and the trade relations of India, China and Japan with Europe and America, Not only is the export trade of India seriously affected by the wheat crop failure, but its power to absorb silver for use in the arts has been seriously curtailed by the same reason. Although the Indian mints have been closed to the coinage of the rupes, the universal and immemorial custom of the native population of India to keep a large part of their accumulated wealth in the form of personal ornaments made of silver, has not changed in the least, and India has consequently continued to absorb silver for such purposes, in spite of the closing of the mints. Any curtailment of the prosperity of the country would, of course, be reflected in a decided falling off of the demand for silver from that country. The situation there also affects exchange on Calcutta and Bombay, the comments of the London Statist of a fortnight ago upon Indian exchange indicates the continued desire of railway and other companies to remit money to India. As we elsewhere point out, the outlook in India is very unpleasant. Last season's failure of the wheat and seed crops is likely to decided fall in exchange might for a time be witnessed as a consequence of the falling off in exports. The trade position in China and Japan is also discouraging. Trade in these countries has been seriously affected by the great reduction in the American demand for silk, but here again exchange is supported by the transference of money from Europe to Japan on account of the Japanese government.

of attention in our market and had a sharp rise, while the allegation is that the speculative interests identified with the movement had their allies in London who bought rupee paper, the theory being that the possible success of the free-silver propaganda in the United States would cause a heavy advance in silver and silver securities. The condition of the free-silver campaign, it is stated, has now caused the speculators to give up the field and liquidate as quickly as possible, the slump in silver values this week being notice that they have accomplished their purpose and have left the silver market to the operation of the natural factors, which, as set forth above, are for the time being of a decidedly adverse character."

DECLINING FRUIT EXPORTS. The overland fruit exports from Northern and Central California for the first nine months of this year show e marked, falling off from last year. This decline is as follows: Ripe fruit 9000 tons; dried fruit, 8000 tons; raisins 5000 tons; canned goods, 2000 tons.

With the increased demand for California dried fruit in the East and Eu rope, and the improved business that is likely to follow the settlement of the political question, it may be expected that exports of fruit from this State will soon increase rapidly.

FRENCH SUGAR BOUNTY. The draft of a bill to regulate the sugar industry of France and to counteract the export bounties of other countries was submitted to the French Cabinet was submitted to the French Cabinet a week ago.

It adds a tax of 2½ francs to the excise duties on home consumption. The funds so derived will be applied to granting an export bounty of 2½ francs for refined sugars and raw sugars yielding 98 per cent., and an export bounty of 1½ francs for raw, sugars yielding 65 to 98 per cent.

The bill protects the refiners at seaports and French colonial producers by a bounty system, and the allowing of a draw back on foreign sugar intended for reexport is maintained! It is proposed that the bill shall not be operative until September, 1898.

A PACIFIC CABLE. It looks as if the much-talked of cable across the Pacific would before long be an accom-Pacific would before long be an accomplished fact, thus completing the great telegraph circle of the globe. It is, however, somewhat humiliating to American pride to find that this muchneeded improvement is likely to be made by the British government. At the recent colonial conference at Ottawa. Can., the following resolution respecting the proposed cable was adopted:

"That in the opinion of this conference immediate steps should be taken to provide telegraphic communications by cable, free from for-eign control, between the Dominion of Canada and Australasia; that the impevernment be respectfully re-to undertake at the earlies quested to undertake at the earnest possible moment, and to prosecute with all possible speed, a thorough survey of the proposed cable route between Canada and Australasia, the expense to be borne in equal proportions by Great Britain, Canada and the Australasian

Britain, Canada and the Australasian colonies."

At the outcome of the conference it was determined to hold a Pacific cable in London, at which the whole subject could be gone over by delegates from all parts of the British dominions affected by the proposed scheme. The Canadian Cabinet has appointed representatives who will sail at once for London, attend the conference as delegates, and report to the government as to results.

The Chicago Record has the following pertinent remarks on this subject:

"Whether as the immediate outcome of the London conference, or of later movements, there is little doubt that the proposed cable will be laid at an early day. The advantages of linking together the widely-sundered parts of the British empire by cable and telegraphic communication are too obvious to make any unexager.

together the widely-sundered parts of the British empire by cable and telegraphic communication are too obvious to make enumeration necessary. As a London paper recently remarked, apropos of this scheme, the single word war' flashed by cable to Canada and Australia and India might more than repay the cost of the cable itself. "Great Britain of late years has become firmly wedded to the notion that cable connection via Canada with Australia and swift communication by steamers from British Columbia to Australia may one day be of vast importance to her, and she has been taking steps accordingly to Vancouver. The time is ripe for the great cable, and doubtless it will be laid in the near future. Americans must realize how important it is for the United States to have cable communication of its own with the Hawalian Islands, Japan, Asia and Australasia. Canadian enterprise and Australasia. ANOTHER SOURCE OF POWER

ANOTHER SOURCE OF POWER. Modern science and ingenuity is bringing to the front many new and remarkable ideas in the line of power, so that it looks as if, even supposing that the coal supply of the world should "peter out" in a century or so, as some scientists suppose, we should not be left without a motive power. One of the most novel ideas recently advanced is that of a French scientist, which is described in an exchange as follows:

"A novel project advanced by M. Raoul Pictet at the recent Geographical Congress at Geneva was the utilization of the energy of the lofty whirling pillars of sand that are continually traveling over the Desert of Sanara. These may be studied in the environs of Cairo, where at about 9 am. bits of paper or feathers on little hillocks are occasionally stirred in a circular path, the movement gradually becoming steady and gyratory, then the light objects rise, their velocity increases, and they are lost to sight in the sand that mounts after them, and may reach a heigh of 4000 yards in about an hour. The upper part of the column is 400 or 600 yards in diameter, its narrowest portion about a dozen yards. Often ten or twelve of the columns are in sigh at once, and their maximum force—depending upon their temperature—is reached between noon and 3 p.m. Some of the light objects picked up were afterward found fifteen or twenty miles away. The temperature was investigated by means of thermometers over a radius of 500 yards on the ground where the column was expected to form, and the sand was found to be 15 deg, or more hotter than the air, the heat—especially on the eastern side—increasing very rapidly at the beginning of the phenomenon. M. Pictet calculates that the wasted heat for each column is sufficient to raise a quart of waster about 10 deg, in a minute. He surgests that the wasted heat for each column is sufficient to raise a quart of waster about 10 deg, in a minute. He column is sufficient to raise a quart of water about 10 deg. in a minute. He suggests that the solar energy thus dissipated be collected by covering the ground with immense heaters of blackground with immense heaters of black-ened sheet iron. He calculates that Nile water flowing through such heat-ers could be quickly raised from 70 deg. to 160 deg., and that a boller covering two and one-half acres would furnish 2000 horse-power for irrigation and other uses."

FIBER FROM THE PINEAPPLE FIBER FROM THE PINEAPPLE LEAVES. A possible mine of wealth in Mexico is pointed out by a British consular report. The leaf of the pineapple is said to furnish a fiber of extraordinary strength, which can be made into ropes, cables, bindingtwine, thread, mats, bagging, hammocks, paper and even a silk-like cloth. It is believed that the fine cloth of the Aztecs was made from this fiber. Modern Mexicans manufacture it but little, partly on account of the slow and wasteful method of separating it, and the foreigner with suitable machinery should reap a rich reward.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The railway shares as a group again today absorbed more speculative interest than the industrials. They reflected the enormous profit taking on the boom and although the total transactions fell short of Wednesday's record by about 127,000 shares, the operations during the last hour were as animated and upon as large a proportionate sale as on that day. The extreme irregularity characterized a number of stocks, particularly in industrials and specialties and the course of prices trended lower, the declines being accelerated by a renewal of stock jobing rumors of impending Cuban complications. London was a notworthy factor in the speculation and there was but little in the way of important new development although an easier condition of the moter and commercial pape and infimum of need to a factor of all dates. This condition was partly responsible for a further hardening in actual sterling figures, but the rise was also attributed to the temporary indisposition of the leading houses to draw bills, while on the other hand the demand for importers was reported small. The market had exhibited a sagging tendency in the forenoon Speculation upon a considerable diminished volume of business as compared with Wednesday, developed aggressive strength and and the best prices of the day were then made. Around delivery hour the advance was stemmed and the market became exceptionally active and excited on the Cuban war rumors referred to above and prices slumped all along the line. The closing was weak at sharp fractional net declines generally. The railway bond market was less active but showed decided weakness on profit taking. The sales were $2,12,000. Governments were weak and lower on sales of $35,000. Silver certificates showed strength and moved up half a cent on purchase of $25,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Evening Post's London financial cablegram says the stock markets there showed a natural reaction today. American securities were unsettled, as is always the case when dealings are so largely in options. The tone is still hopeful, however, and there was considerable investment buying by the public of low-priced gold bonds. The share market is, still a professional one. Mines were better. New York exchange is watched eagerly, the London money market literally hanging on it. The tendency of money will be easier until the next gold shipment to New York is announced. The binetallist manifesto, claiming the election in the United States as a bimetallic victory, caused anusement. London Financial Market.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Everybody appeared to have wheat for sale when the trading in it started. December, which was worth 76½ as the session was ending yesterday, was urgently pressed for sale at 75%, but practically none could be disposed of until it was offered at 75½. It was only a minute or two longer when there were no buyers at over 75 and half an hour from the opening it sold at 74½. Stop loss orders in a great number of instances could not be filled until the loss had largely exceeded the limit set by the brokers' customers. There was considerable disappointment in the cables, which came lower in spite of our sharp bulge yesterday and it had a depressing tendency of other news. The Minneapolis and Duluth receipts amounted to 849 carloads compared with 122 on the similar day of last week and 1135 cars on the corresponding day of the year before; all outside markets were much higher than this one. Cash wheat was in excellent demand and for the most part brought within ½c or ½c of yesterday's prices even when December was down 2½c. Too much had evidently been bought in expectation of an immose to be advance after the election and heave to be advance after the election and this one. Some Good Shipping Strawberries. (S. L. Watkins in California Cultiva-tor.) Having several hundred varieties of strawberries under cultivation we have a good chance to observe those that are best adapted to shipping a great distance. Many of the very fin-est-flavored strawberries are too soft to ship, and again those that yield the heaviest are generally the poorest to snip, and again those that yield the heavlest are generally the poorest shippers, while the best shipping sorts are only moderate yielders.

The Arizona Everbearing is a tremendous yielder with us, but entirely too soft to ship any distance. The Haverland is a marvel for yielding an abundance of good fruit, but it is too soft. The Parker Earle is a fairly good shipper.

soft. The Parker Earle is a fairly good shipper.

The Dollar strawberry heads the list for a long-distance shipper, closely followed by the Hood River and Triomphe de Gand. The Dollar berry is exceedingly firm and a most lustrous, glossy red, and as it is a good traveler it generally arrives in market in good shape, and sells for from 15 to 20 cents more per crate than other varieties on account of its superb appearance and high quality. The Dollar berry, with us, differs from all other varieties under cultivation in this respect: As soon as the old plant perfects its crop of fruit, the young runners commence bearing, the old plant perfects its crop of fruit, the young runners commence bearing, and keep this up for about two months, thus making the season of fruiting very long, but during the entire season the Dollar berry will not near approach the Arizona for a big yield of fruit. The Hood River berry, is best adapted to a moist section of the country, where there is an abundance of togs. This berry can be picked when white and sherry can be picked when white and shipped to New York, and it will come out a waxy crimson, dotted with golden seeds. It is possessed of a most fascinating flavor, somewhat tartish, but exceedingly fine.

The Triomphe de Gand is grown mostly in the Sacramento strawberry regions. It is a grand shipper, and growers in the Sacramento Valley have realized more money from this berry than from all other sorts put together that are cultivated there.

The old Longworth Prolific is a pretty good shipper, and still a pretty fair variety, where good select plants are used to propagate from.

The Australian Crimson is a fairly good shipper, but it does not color up well enough to make a fancy shipping well enough to make a fancy shipping well enough to make sort.

I have tested the Brandywine only one season; the fruit is very large and roundish in shape, but very firm, and I believe will stand long-distance shipment as good as the Hood River. I am inclined to think from the way it does with me that it will do well in hot climates.

mates.

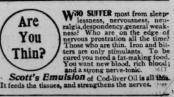

The Enormous strawberry is a glantsized berry, and I believe will ship a long ways.

The Marshall is a good shipper and very large—from fourteen to eighteen select specimens will fill a quart box.
This variety is already highly spoken of in Southern California, and gives promise of being widely cultivated.
The Gandy is a good shipper and a fancy berry for a fancy market, and is a very profitable sort to grow.

The old Sharpless is a good shipper and is a sweet, rich-flavored berry.

THE PROPOSED CHARTER AMENDment Among Citizens Strongly in Favor of Revision-The Board Trade Will Take the Matter

PASADENA, Nov. 5.—(Regular Correspondence.) Now that the national election is over, the Board of Trade will have an opportunity to consider the proposal for charter amendment that was brought before it through a committee appointed for the purpose in September, and who met with the City Attorney for consultation, but arrived at no definite conclusion. It was de-cided at that time to defer the matter until October, but on account of the election nothing has been done. Objec-tions were made to the charter revision by the City Attorney upon the grounds that some of the offices now appointive would be elective under the revised charter. Among these are the Mayor and City Superintendent of

As her husband refused to pay the alimony the Sheriff attached two horses, a wagon and harness belonging to Hutchins. The latter today brought sult in Recorder Rossiter's court against the Sheriff, claiming that the property is exempt. The judgment was against him, and this afternoon Contable Slater sold the goods, which ere bought by Mrs. Hutchins for $24.

The Pasadena and Lake Vineyard Land and Water Company is making an improvement on Villa street that adds much to the appearance of the street. A strong retaining wall of stone is being constructed along the sidewalk line, the walk having been widened to conform with the walk on the rest of the street. The high fence which surrounds the reservoir has been moved several feet nearer the summit of the embankment, and if some plan could be devised to protect the reservoir that would remove the fence altogether, the entire neighborhood would be greatly benefited, as the inclosure as it now stands is anything but beautiful.

WHITTIER. WHITTIER, Nov. 5.—(Regular Correspondence.) The election passed off very quietly here, as the Republicans had everything their own way, and the other side knew it. Still Bryan and the Democratic candidate for Congress, Barlow, polled a much larger vote than was expected. The voting at the two precincts was nearly all done in the forenoon, with little delay. There was no trouble whatever at the polls, which speaks very well for the community here. In precinct No. 1, taking in the western part of the town, the vote was as follows: McKinley, 117; Bryan, 91; for Congressman McLachlan polled 105 votes and Barlow 95. Precinct No. 2. comprising the eastern part, went more solidly for McKinley and McLachlan, giving McKinley 107 and Bryan 41; Barlow 47 and McLachlan 93. SANTA ANA, Nov. 5.-(Regular Correspondence.) The election has come and gone, and the time is now here for the paying of all kinds of election bets. The bet was made before last Tues-

The bet was made before last Tuesday, otherwise it would not now have to be paid. Mr. Booty proposed that if 'McKinley was elected he would wheel Judge Huntington over the route, and if Bryan was elected Mr. Booty was to ride, and the Judge was to furnish the motor power. The result of the great downpour of ballots on Tuesday, as everybody knows, was the selection of Maj. McKinley as the next President of the United was the selection of Maj. The Judge wore one of his broadest smiles, while Mr. Booty was clad in an original expression of injured innocence. The start was made from the corner of Fourth and West streets, and down Fourth they West streets, and down Fourth they went, stopping at every cross street in order that the motor power could be refuvenated, and due deference could be paid to the applause and cheers from the mass of humanity along the sidewalk. The directors took the matter up and sifted the charges down, with the result that Mr. Goodrich. the secretary, was most thoroughly and completely exonerated from any blame. This decision was given by the board of directors after a most thorough and complete investigation, and the charges therefore fell with a most sickening thud.

This was not enough for the to-be mil-lionaire mine-owner, and in his ecstacy he tore up the carpets and threw them into the backyard and smashed his dining table into kindling wood. Chairs were smashed and other furniture was rapidly reduced to plain, ordinary fuel. He informed his wife that Bryan was now elected and that from this time on she should wear nothing but silks and satin, and that she should have maids galore to do her bidding. About this time some of the neighbors came in to see what the trouble was, and then it was not long until the soon-to-be millionaire silver-mine owner learned to his sorrow that the dispatches had been doctored and that Bryan was elected only to stay at home. "Go to the polls next Tuesday." said the local Populist organ of Saturday last, "and vote just as you believe to be for the best interests of yourself, your family and your country." And that's just what the people of Anaheim did, and that's one of the reasons why McKinley is elected President.

Now that the election is over, the new town of Los Alamitos is absorbing general interest, and several of the citizens of Anaheim have invested in town lots. Among others, F. Conrad of the brewery, has bought a lot with a frontage of fifty feet, at $500, which is ample evidence that there is a future for the new town.

OVER A THOUSAND VOTERS DID NOT GO TO THE POLLS

Republicans Were Too Lax in Conducting Their Campalgn-Great

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 5 .- (Regular Correspondence.) The local situ-ation regarding the election has not changed except that the Republicans are not quite so sure of McLachlan's election as they were yesterday, and are blaming themselves for not giving him a bigger majority. While a signal victory was scored in this county against fusion and free silver, yet there are a few points which help to constitute the historical part of the present campaign and election that are already causing earnest, thinking Republicans to pause and reflect. First of all, the campaign was announced as one of education, and the agitation was gen-eral, earnest and persistent. The result shows a thousand votes short of the registration. Who staid at home and what part of the educational process registration. Who staid at home and what part of the educational process caused them to stay away from the polls? Then, again, there were 163 Democrats and 213 Republicans who voted for President and did not vote for Congressman. What an insult to free American intelligence, and what a rebuke upon the political management. An attempt was made to account for the shortage in the polling list by claiming that the discharging of railroad employés at Lompoc would cover it, but the entire registered list of transient voters in that section does not exceed 120.

Another thing that is galling to earnest Republicans is the satisfaction expressed all along by the Democrats in regard to the manner in which the Republican campaign was conducted in this county. There are Republicans who say: "We elected our men and carried the county for McKinley. What more do you want?" There are others who say: "We had help this year which we cannot hope to always have; we could have shown larger majorities and put this county into Republican hands this year had we been better organized; in that case our manner of conducting the campaign would not have been so satisfactory to the opposition."

The happiest men in Santa Barbara today are the gold Democrats, and they have a right to be. They made sacrifices on the start which no man can be glad to make and which only earnest, conscientious men can make. They have been hard workers all through the campaign and in addition to this they have carried a lead which only earnest, conscienting and all all and with carried they have carried a lead which only earnest, conscienting and all all and with carried a lead with carried and carried and carried and carried and carried and carried and ca entious men can make. They have been hard workers all through the campaign and in addition to this they have carried a load which only they and their former associates fully appreciate. They deserve all the glory there is in a complete victory, and their names should be recorded as those of men who will do to tie to. The opposition is talking of continuing the free-silver fight from now on. preparatory to another campaign in two years from now, and Republicans are determined that the campaign of education shall go right on, and be backed by an organization based on sound money and protection that will carry conviction to the hearts of the people and victory to the party.

The McKinley and Hobart Club will hold a business meeting this evening at headquarters, in the Clock building, for the purpose of closing up the unfinished business of the camraign and to arrange for a rousing ratification meeting, the time for which has not yet been decided. The intention is to make this the grandest political demonstration Santa Barbara has ever seen and one that will be remembered. The monthly renort issued by the United States Department of Agriculture under the direction of Observer J. A. Barwick, will henceforth contain weather reports and summary of statistics by Mr. Vail of Santa Barbara a and by the Crocker ranch management as a representative of the Montecito Valley.

Ducks in large numbers are reported coming into Guadalupe Lake the past two days, and wild pigeons are becoming more plentiful in the Santa Ynez Valley. These, added to the fine quall shooting in the adjoining foothills, are attracting sportsmen from all directions.

The yacht Lizzle Belle W. sailed yesterday for Santa Cruz. The schooner Haleyon also left yesterday for Port Townsend, and today the schooner Restless cleared for up-the-coast points, and the Islands.

The crowds that hang around the bulletin boards this evening show great interest in the Congressional ticket, and prominent members in both parties are expressing a sincere hope that McLachlan will continue a winner.

Rev. Dr. Wilkins of Chicago, secretary of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, will address theyoung people at the Baptist Church in this city this evening.

Mrs. M. E. Russell, a professional crop in this vicinity being the largest ever grown. Fullerton: The rain was sufficient to start plowing; we have never known mesa lands to plow better than they do now; the storm was considered extra heavy for so early in the season; grass is already showing above ground; there was no damage but gave wainut-growers extra work washing nuts; the rainfall was 1.67 inches. Capistrano: The rainfall of the late storm amounted to 1.84 inches and was a blessing for farmers; plows are going everywhere for barley, wheat and oats; grass is sprouting everywhere and the fills are looking green; highest temperature 70 deg., lowest 56 deg.

San Diego county—San Diego city: The rain of the 27th began in the early morning and continued at intervals till the evening; at 7:10 the rain fell at the rate of two inches an hour; there were many breaks of sunshine during the showers which characterized the storm; no damage was done, as warnings of the approaching storm were sent out from the Weather Office; this storm was unusual for this season of the year at this station, the rain comparing with this month in 1883 and 1889, when over two inches fell; seeding has commenced in many parts of the county. Escondido: The first rain of the season came on the 22d of October, and on the 27th a heavy rain fell. Valley Center: On October 27 2.98 inches of rain fell. followed on the 28th by perfectly clear, warm and sunshiny weather and still air; the weather was cool the night of the 28th of October, but no frost formed The ground is in excellent condition for plowing, and many will improve the opportunity. La Costa: The rainfall last Tuesday was fully three-fourths of an inch, and it wet down the soil sufficiently for plowing; the rain was unusually heavy) for the season; there were no high winds, but the weather was quite cool and extremely fine and pleasant; hauling is much improved; plowing has commenced and will be general by next week.

Women Glory in McKinley's She was a tall, slender and elegantly she was a tal, slender and eleganty dressed woman. Her bearing indicated that she belonged to that exclusive set known as the "400." Her eyes flashed triumphantly as she gazed animatedly at the bulletin board in front of a South Spring-street cigar store This was yesterday afternoon and a boy was rapidly pasting up the returns. The woman was the only one of her sex in the vast throng, but she did not seem to mind that. Presently on the bulletin board there appeared the announcement that McKinley had been conceded 277 electoral votes. The dignity which characterizes the woman's daily life was thrown to the wind, and as a woman friend, encouraged by the appearance of one of her sex in the crowd, stepped up, she exclaimed, "Good, now I will go and order my yellow crepe dress made up for the charity ball." The newcomer also had an ambition. "Yes, now that McKinley's elected, I will buy a bottle of French shoe dressing. I needed it badly but made up my mind that I would not buy it if Bryan was elected." turns. The woman was the only one

FRENCH SOCIALISTS.

They Accuse the Government of Or-

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(By Atlantic Cable.) In the Chamber of Deputies today M. Jaures, the Socialist leader, accused the government of concerting with M. Kossingnier, the owner of the Carrie Glass Works in organizing the Carma Glass Works, in orginizing the demonstration against the Social-ist Deputies who opened a new co-operative glass factory at Albi, near Carma, on Sunday last and with illegally dispersing a Socialist meeting.

M. Barthou, the Minister of the Interior, amid interruptions from the Left, denied that the government had opposed the founding of the coopera-tive glass works, the establishment of which was resented by the workmen of Carma. The government, he added, only took the measures necessary to preserve order.

mMM. Milleraud and Goblet supported M. Juares and M. Barthou relterated that the police did their duty owing to disturbances in the hall. Amid the Socialist interruptions, M. Bonter cried: "You have lied." But finally the order of the day, supporting the government was adopted by a vote of 316 to 238.
